Nehru purged from an iconic museum name

Triggers war of words between Cong, BJP

PARVEZ SULTAN AND RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

INDIA'S first prime minister Jawaharlal Nehru just lost an iconic institution named after him in Delhi, which triggered a fierce slugfest between the heads of the Congress and the BJP on Friday.

It all began after the executive council of the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library Society's decision to rechristen it as the Prime Ministers' Museum and Library Society (PMLS) became public.

The announcement touched off a war of words between Mallikarjun Kharge and J P Nadda, national presidents of the Congress and the BJP, respectively. Kharge lit into the BJP, saying, "Those who don't have any history have moved to erase the history of others." He condemned the name change, stating that it cannot diminish the stature of Nehru, who was the architect of modern India and a fearless guardian of democracy.

"This only shows the low mentality and dictatorial attitude of BJP-RSS. The narrow thinking of the Modi government cannot diminish the immense contribution of 'Jawahar of Hind' to India!" the Congress president fumed.

Nadda, however, dismissed Kharge's charges as a "classic example of political indigestion". He highlighted the inability of the Congress to accept the fact that there are leaders beyond one dynasty who have served and built the nation.

"PM Sangrahalaya is an effort beyond politics, and Congress lacks the vision to realise this," he alleged.

The decision to change the name was taken at the executive council's meeting on Thursday so as to reflect the present activity there, which includes a museum "depicting the collective journey of democracy in Independent India and highlighting the contribution of each prime minister in nation-building", the culture ministry said.

Defence minister Rajnath Singh, the vice president of the Society, presided over the meeting. Nripendra Misra, chairman of the council, said the new name expresses the couuntry's deep commitment to democracy.

The museum, built at a cost of ₹271 crore, is on a 10,000 square metre piece of land adjacent to the old building, which served as the residence of Nehru. The Teen Murti Bhavan was built in the 1930s during the British Raj.

Established in 1964

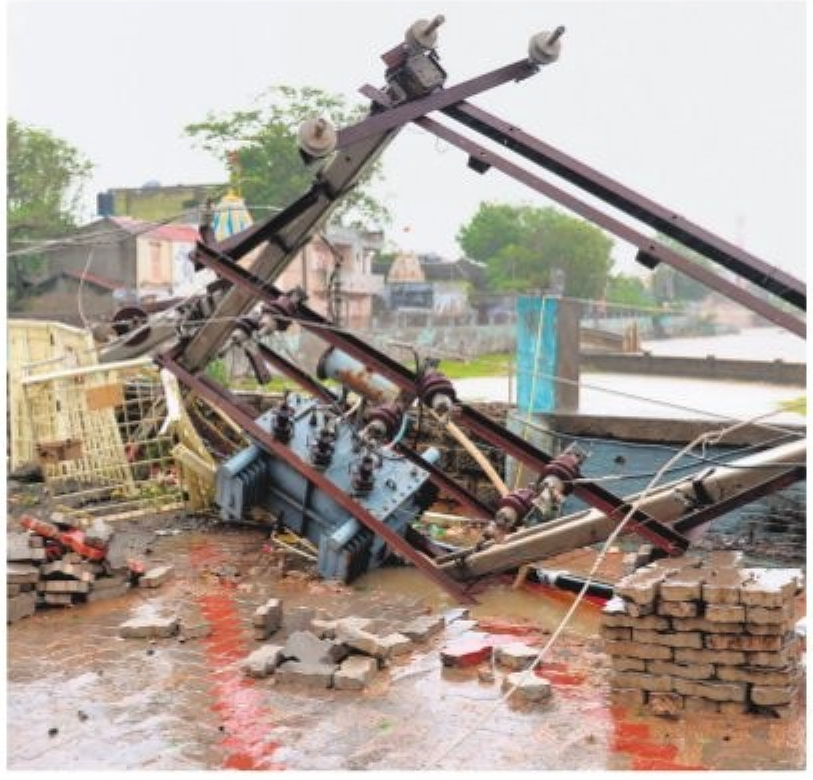
The NMML, established in 1964, is an autonomous institution under the ministry of culture. It had four major constituents, including the Nehru Memorial Museum, a library on modern India, a Centre for Contemporary Studies and the Nehru Planetarium built on Teen Murti Bhavan campus. The Pradhanmantri Sangrahalaya here was opened to the public in April last year

No casualty but heavy damage to power infra



A damaged electric transformer lies on the ground at Mandvi in Kutch district, around 100 km from Jakhau Port where the cyclone made landfall | AFP

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

CYCLONE Biparjoy that struck Gujarat on Thursday night unleashed a trail of destruction in coastal districts as it uprooted thousands of trees and electric poles, damaged houses and roads, and caused flooding in several coastal villages.

Nearly 4,600 villages were left without power as the cyclone damaged scores of transformers abd toppled as many as 5,120 electric poles. Personnel from the electricity department on Friday managed to restore power in 3,580 villages, state Relief Commissioner Alok Kumar Pandey said.

He said there were no casualties due to the cyclone but it caused extensive financial loss to the state. Officials have been directed to start the process to assess damage. "Not a single human death has been reported so far due to the cyclone. This has been possible because of our collective effort," he added.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted and traffic on three state highways came to a standstill, the officials said, adding that at least 23 people were injured due to cyclone-related incidents while many houses were damaged.

In all, as many as 1,137 trees were uprooted due to heavy winds and heavy rains, disrupting traffic in 263 roads across the state.

A cattle rearer and his son died in Bhavnagar district while trying to save their goats stuck in a flooded ravine. Bhavnagar Collector R K Mehta told this newspaper that the deaths were not due to the cyclone.

On Friday, Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel convened a meeting at the emergency operations centre in Gandhinagar to assess the state's position after the cyclone passed.

He asked collectors of the affected districts to do a survey to determine the extent of damage to property, infrastructure and crops.

According to officials, around 20 kutcha houses, nine pucca houses, and 65 huts were completely destroyed in the affected districts, while 474 kutcha dwellings and two pucca houses were partially damaged due to the cyclone.

Cyclone moves to Raj

Several areas of Jalore and Barmer districts in Rajasthan witnessed heavy rain as the cyclone moved towards the desert state. A red alert has been sounded for Jalore and Barmer as 200 mm rainfall is expected

'Denial' of rice: Congress plans protest on June 20

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the ruling Congress will stage a protest across the state against the Union Government on June 20 for "denying" rice which the Siddaramaiah government intended to distribute under its ambitious Anna Bhagya scheme.

"By denying rice to the state, the BJP government at the Centre is playing politics of hatred. The Centre's action is also anti-poor. We are opposing this and will protest across the state. Our government is committed to giving 10 kg rice to the poor," Deputy CM DK Shivakumar, who is also KPCC president, told reporters on Friday. He said to implement the Anna Bhagya scheme, the Congress government sought rice from the Food Corporation of India (FCI). But it refused to give rice to the state. "We want to raise awareness among the people about this," he added.

Slamming BJP for opposing the five guarantees of his party, Shivakumar said, "They (BJP) have been criticising us, but we went ahead with the schemes."

SAND-LADEN TRACTOR KILLS KALABURAGI COP

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

A police head constable died on the spot after a tractor transporting sand illegally ran over him near Narayanpur village in Kalaburagi district at 10.45pm on Thursday.

The constable has been identified as Mayur Chouhan, alias Musuru (51). Chouhan was attached to Nelogi police station in Jewargi taluk. He hailed from Choudapur Thanda of Afzalpur taluk. Tractor driver Siddappa has been taken into custody. Kalaburagi SP Isha Pant told reporters that based on a complaint of rampant illegal mining and transport of sand from the banks of the Bhima river near Hullur village, police tightened vigil in the area. Chouhan and constable Pramod were posted there.

Court acquits main accused in Sowjanya murder case

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE CBI court has acquitted Santhosh Rao, the main accused, in the infamous Sowjanya murder case for lack of evidence.

Sowjanya (17) was a second PU student of SDM College, Ujire, Belthangady taluk, Dakshina Kannada district, when she was raped and murdered.

She went missing on October 9, 2012, while returning home from college. Her father Chandrappa Gowda had filed a missing complaint at Belthangady police station. Sowjanya's body was found with "shocking and disturbing" injuries the next day in the bushes near Mannasanka, said sources privy to the case. "The perpetrator had violated her badly. The body was found with sand in her private parts. The accused had done so to either destroy evidence or for sadistic pleasure," they said.

After initial investigation by local police, the case was handed over to the Criminal Investigation Department (CID), which submitted a 15-page report to the government naming Rao, who was arrested on October 11 as the main accused. The CID gave a clean chit to four others accused in the case from Dharmasthala.

Said to be mentally unstable, Rao, a contract labourer from Bajagoli, Karkala, was subjected to psychiatric assessment at Nimhans.

Hit roads during peak hrs: Dr G to traffic cops

Gives dept 3 months to get act together; No plans to restart towing of vehicles

Home Minister G Parameshwara inspects CCTV footage during his visit to the office of the City Police Commissioner on Friday. DG & IGP Alok Mohan and City Police Commissioner B Dayananda look on | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister G Parameshwara on Friday visited the office of the City Police Commissioner and held a detailed discussion with senior police officials to address traffic issues, drug menace and rowdy activities. The minister also gave them a deadline of three months to effectively manage traffic in the city.

Police play a major role in bringing a good name to the government, he said, and instructed officials attached to the traffic department to be on the field during peak hours. He warned them that they would be held responsible for any traffic jams. Currently, there are no plans to restart the towing of vehicles, he said.

"I have worked as home minister earlier, and have enough experience. Police stations must be people-friendly and policemen have to behave well with the public. Police officials should not succumb to influence or pressure. Rowdy and real estate issues which affect the public must be controlled," Parameshwara said.

"DCPs and other lower-rung officers have to be on the field for a minimum of two hours during morning and evening peak-hour traffic. Additional staff from the law and order department will also be deployed during peak hours to overcome staff shortage. In the next three months, the city must be free of traffic issues," the home minister said.

He said measures will be taken to address the drug menace. "Drug-related problems have increased. Habitual drug peddlers and foreign nationals involved in drug peddling in the city have been identified, and strict action will be taken against them. Around 106 foreign students involved in drug peddling have been deported," the minister added.

Soon, give feedback on police officers

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

IN a bid to improve its efficiency and image, the city police is all set to replicate its feedback mechanism in all its 102 Law and Order police stations. Last year, the Bandepalya police of South East Division initiated the feedback system – Darpana-- which received good response from citizens.

Now, City Police Commissioner B Dayananda will introduce it in all police stations across the city. "It was started in one station and later introduced in the entire in South East Division. Now, we are working on the back-end to replicate the system across all the law and order stations," the officer told TNIE.

Darpana was introduced by Police Inspector LY Rajesh. People who came to the Bandepalya police station were given a form to rate their experience and suggest areas for improvement. Subsequently, Deputy Commissioner of Police (South East) C K Baba integrated the system into QR code and brought all the eight Law and Order stations in the division under it. People coming to the station will be given 12 questions, including behaviour of officials, cleanliness, the attitude of staff and others.

"The image of the police has taken a hit. As an image-building exercise, such initiatives are being done," said a senior official.

93-yr-old does BDA rounds for site papers

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

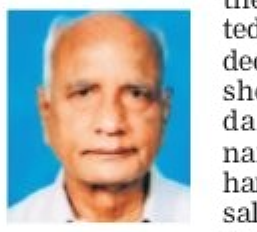
FOR a blunder committed by Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) officials, 93-year-old retired PWD engineer Lakshmi Narayan has frequented its head office countless times seeking succour. He is desperate to get the original ownership documents of the family property so that he can transfer it to his three daughters in his lifetime. But it is proving to be a real struggle.

This, despite the High Court verdict in his favour in 2012 directing the BDA to help him out. The issue boils down to this: Narayan's sister was allotted a BDA site in Jakkur village in Arkavathy Seventh Block in 2013. This was after six attempts made by the family failed. He had approached the court a year earlier pointing to the seniority (number of attempts) of his sister being ignored when allotment of sites was made. The court pulled up BDA and ordered allotment of a site to the family, directing it to consider the allotment on par with the batch of allotments made in 2006.



According to the rules (Allotment of Sites Rules, 1984), the original property documents — the Absolute Sale Deed — are handed over to the allottee only after expiry of 10 years from the date of lease-cum-sale agreement. This period in Narayan's case ended in 2016.

However, he has still not got the documents, and continues to run from one office to another for them. "I am yet to get my absolute sale deed from the BDA. I am keen on transferring the 60x40 sqft site allotted in the name of my deceased sister which she had willed to my daughters in their names. BDA wants to hand over the absolute sale deed only after the mandatory ten-year lease cum sale period passes. They are ready to give it on July 17, 2023. I have visited the office countless times pleading with multiple commissioners that my ten-year period ended in 2016 itself. However, this is not being paid heed to."

He added, "At my age, staying alive every day is a miracle. I really hope I am able to do this for my daughters."

While this battle could get some kind of closure next month, Narayan is quite unhappy about it. "It will be the month of Ashada which is not an auspicious one and I do not want to do any registrations at that time. I have pleaded with BDA officials recently to advance it by a month. I will know about the outcome shortly," he said.

A senior BDA official told TNIE, "We will have to go by rules and plan to give it to him on July 17. However, I will tell the caseworker and request the Commissioner to advance it by a month."

Munirathna accuses Cong of vendetta politics

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

A DAY after 11 BBMP officials were suspended in connection with the Rs 118 crore fake bill scam in RR Nagar, local MLA Munirathna Naidu, whose name was dragged into the controversy, alleged political vendetta by the ruling Congress, particularly DyCM DK Shivakumar and his brother Bengaluru Rural MP D K Suresh.

Muniratna told TNIE that it was apparent to anybody that this was nothing but vendetta politics by the Congress leaders. "The suspension of BBMP officials and my name being dragged into the controversy is just the beginning, and more will follow," he said. To a question on him filing a complaint with the Governor, or escalating the matter with the BJP high command, Muniratna said he will wait and observe.

Former Jalahalli corporator and confidante of Muniratna, G K Venkatesh said, "I will send a letter to Home Minister Amit Shah's office as there is a threat."

'Make changes in birth register sans court nod'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has ordered that the Registrar of Births and Deaths should make necessary changes in the birth register without insisting on an order from the jurisdictional civil court when parents submit an affidavit followed by legal notice to change the name of their adoptive child.

Justice Krishna S Dixit passed the order while allowing a petition filed by the parents of a five-year-old adoptive girl from the city seeking directions to change her name to get her admitted to school. The parents challenged the communication issued by the Registrar of Births and Deaths in Tumakuru that he will consider the request if it is made in an appropriate form supported by evidentiary material.

The government advocate appearing for the Registrar contended that the change of name in the birth register cannot be effected just for askance; the claimants have to produce necessary material supportive of the change desired and the reasons thereof.

The entries made in the Registers of Births and Deaths have sanctity and therefore cannot be meddled in the absence of a court order to be obtained at the hands of the jurisdictional civil court, he argued. Turning down this argument, the court observed that had the request been for the alteration of date of birth, this court would have appreciated such contention since several consequences follow such an alteration.

It is in the context of adoption that a child is rechristened and therefore, the change as sought, ought to have been made in the birth register at least when a sworn affidavit was filed to that effect followed by legal notices, the court said.

After Shakti launch, men's ridership too sees a jump

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the launch of Shakti scheme, the number of women taking BMTC buses soared manifold. The scheme is advantageous for women as it offers free travel, but according to urban mobility experts, the overall ridership too has increased, including men who have to pay for their commute.

The experts felt that there might be two kinds of shifts after the launch of Shakti scheme -- one is women, who were using other modes of transport like private buses and autos, shifted to BMTC due to the fare advantage and the second is that those who were either walking to their destinations, or not commuting, have opted to use the public transport. One more reason they attribute to the high ridership is the euphoria around the launch of any free government scheme.

While the average daily ridership of BMTC is 27.34 lakh, the data shared by the transport utility shows that the total ridership was 34.94 lakh (17.57 lakh women passengers) on June 12; 40.17 lakh (20.57 lakh women) on June 13; 33.44 lakh (16.85 lakh) on June 14, and 33.28 lakh (17.67 lakh) on June 15, indicating that the number of men passengers has gone up.

Shaheen Shasa of Bengaluru Bus Prayanikara Vedike said, "The jump in the number of women passengers in BMTC is significant with 17 lakh on June 12 and 20 lakh on June 13. On June 14, it might have dropped to 16.85 lakh, but it is close to the numbers recorded on June 12. We will have to wait and see where things settle in around 10 days."

"Commuters who were using other modes of transport are shifting to BMTC due to fare advantage and those who were walking have also started using buses," she said.

Mobility expert Shreya Gadepalli attributed the sudden jump in the ridership of BMTC due to the euphoria around the launch of any scheme, and said, "We should look at the data once things settle down."

"I think we should allow a few months' data to come in before doing any assessment and making any judgements," Gadepalli said.

A BMTC official said all these years they did not have any gender-wise data and added that it is too early to predict any trends as the Shakti scheme has just been rolled out.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

17th June : There's a Mercury-Neptune angle this week. OK, I know that's technical jargon, so let me tell you what it means. It points to a huge potential for massive misunderstanding and total confusion. That might be great for poets and romantics, but lousy for people with practical jobs to do. There is a solution though: take extra care and double-check every detail - and all should be well!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Today's dramatic Moon aligns with your house of marriage. Obviously, this doesn't mean you're going to be getting married! It does mean, though, that it's an absolutely ideal moment for solidifying important new relationships, including working partnerships.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
There is every indication that you could be working today. This means that, even if you're planning to enjoy a well-earned rest, you will be swept away by unexpected demands on your time. Leisure pursuits will be most enjoyable if you keep active. 'Be prepared' seems to be the essential message.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
If you are willing to speculate, you may well now receive a boost to your income. You must, though, remain alert to intriguing possibilities other people have missed. Also, you may use the opportunity to improve contacts with younger relations.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Not everyone says what they mean. It looks very much as if partners are failing to communicate and, even when they do open their mouths, they'll say the opposite of what they mean. This is why you'll have to be super-intuitive and follow up a hunch at home.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
If you get what you want today, it will be through your own efforts rather than because the stars are handing you rewards on a plate. Much depends on how much effort you are prepared to put into persuading other people that you are right.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
As long as Mercury is connected with parts of your chart representing your finances, you'd be advised to pay careful attention to every detail, even those usually too small to notice, when formulating business and spending plans. Don't take anything - or anyone - for granted.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
It's a special day. The Moon brings a welcome chance for change, and if you look back over the last six months, seeing where you went right and what you did wrong, you'll discover how you should get the best out of the future. Give yourself whatever time you need.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You've hit a secretive moment, but behind-the-scenes discussions are likely to have helpful consequences. You should come clean over secret intentions, and realise that a certain other person can be trusted after all. Pick your moment with care.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon should give you a welcome social boost. There's nothing wrong with escapism, and if you want to take refuge from daily responsibilities in collective fun, so be it. The romantic situation is now commencing a move towards mystery and suspense!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Keep a close watch on money matters, and realise that any domestic hassles could be dealt with by extra spending in the right areas. Partners' personal sensibilities will have to be catered for as well, so be considerate at all times, and make sure that everyone is happy.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It's time for a change, so keep active and get involved in all that's going on. Your mood is strangely perceptive and there's every reason to hope that if you follow your intuition, you'll achieve the success you're hoping for. It's all a matter of being in the right place at the right time.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's vital that you share business plans with close friends, and even more important that you discuss them with people you live with. In romantic affairs, it's time for the thrill that comes with heightened intensity. Someone could attract your attention in a big way.

An estate labourer was injured in a wild elephant attack. The incident was reported in Enjilageri village, near Siddapura, South Kodagu. Suresh (28) was on his bike when the lone tusker attacked him. Suresh lost control and rammed an electric pole, and suffered a broken leg

Asst loco pilot knifed on way to KR Puram station, out of danger

Railway employees on night duty have to cross risky stretch to reach workplace

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

AN Assistant Loco Pilot (ALP) walking to his workplace was stabbed on his hand by three miscreants, near Krishnarajapuram Railway Station on Wednesday night.

After 12 stitches and a day in the ICU, 28-year-old Pramit Haldar is now out of danger.

Haldar, a native of Kolkata, joined the Bengaluru Railway Division three years ago and was posted as a goods train ALP here. His parents are now rushing to Bengaluru from his hometown.

Multiple railway sources confirmed the incident.

"Haldar resided just 500 metres from the station and was walking on Station Road (behind K R Puram Rly Station) around 10.30pm on Wednesday.

Three drunk men ordered him to stop. Haldar panicked and walked faster. They ran up, caught him and assaulted him. One of them took out a knife and tried to slash his face, so Haldar swung his hand to defend himself, leading to deep cuts. His hand bore the brunt of the attack," a source said.

Haldar ran back home to escape the men. His colleagues residing nearby took him to the Railway Hospital and doctors advised shifting him to Narayana Multi Speciality Hospital in Malleswaram, as the injuries were serious.

"Many of the 200-odd train drivers who work in K R Puram loco shed and station reside close by, since goods train don't have specific timings and they have to be ready to report for work at short notice," explained another source. "The road is isolated and ALPs and LPs who are on night duty walk or ride only in pairs, out of fear. There are liquor outlets nearby and drunken brawls are common," he added.

An ALP had been assaulted on the same stretch in April 2022, and suffered serious head injuries.

Sources among the loco pilots said they have written to Divisional Railway Managers about the dangers they face at night, and also approached local police for a solution, but did not get any support.

DRM Shyam Singh said, "The incident has not been brought to my attention. I have not received any communication from the loco pilots. I will take corrective measures."

Man dies in sleep after machete attack

Bengaluru: A 22-year-old painter, who was involved in a scuffle which left him bleeding from his head, died in his sleep later. He reportedly returned home and went to sleep without tending to his head injuries. Around 11pm Wednesday, Irude Raj, a resident of Vijinapura, and his relative Vijay (27) were on their way home when they were accosted by three miscreants in Ramamurthynagar. They allegedly stopped the duo and asked them why they were out late at night. When Irude Raj tried to explain, the miscreants attacked them with a machete and warned them off the place. Instead of going to hospital, Raj went home and applied some powder on the injuries. When he did not wake up the next morning, Vijay reported the matter to police and filed a complaint. Police arrested an accused, Rajesh, a habitual offender and are on the lookout for the other two. ENS

Single-use dialysis units to be mandatory

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru:

AFTER a recent inspection of KC General Hospital revealed the state of affairs in the dialysis centre, including lack of functional air-conditioners, drinking water facilities and access to wheelchairs, Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao has announced that the government is planning to make single-use dialysis units mandatory for all centres across the state.

Health and Family Welfare Commissioner D Randeep told TNIE that the department is discussing the conversion of all centres to single-use dialysis centres, as technical experts have suggested it will reduce cross-infection among healthcare workers and patients. In case of haemodialysis, the same equipment is used multiple times after washing. The used dialyser and tubes have to be cleaned after every dialysis procedure.

Dialysis treatment puts patients at higher risk of serious infections, as it requires frequent access to the bloodstream, using needles or catheters (soft plastic tubes inserted into large veins). If germs get into a patient's blood, they can cause serious infections that may lead to sepsis, a potentially life-threatening immune system response, or even death, a Centre for Disease Control and Prevention Study explained.

State-run dialysis centres have remained dysfunctional for months now. Subsequently, Rao directed officials to call for a fresh tender to improve the condition of 167 dialysis centres running under the Pradhan Mantri National Dialysis programme. Dysfunctional equipment in many centres and shortage of nephrologists has continued for months, said Dr Keshav Murthy, director, Institute of Nephrourology, Victoria Hospital. The PMNDP portal stated there are 633 functional dialysis machines available across all centres in the state.

He said single-use equipment is already in use in many private hospitals. The process is convenient, requires less manpower and uses less water.

Pet dogs bite two children in separate incidents

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A nine-year-old girl was bitten by a pet dog in Kadugodi, while an 11-year-old boy underwent a similar ordeal in Jayanagar. Cases were registered against the pet parents in the respective police stations.

The pet pitbull belonging to Mahesh, owner of Lakshmi Narasimha Cloth Shop inside Jayanagar Complex, bit the boy around 8.30pm when he had gone shopping with his parents on Sunday. Seema Dinesh Pattar (39), a resident of G Hosahalli, filed a complaint against the dog parent.

"Though there was a cage outside the shop to keep the dog, it was let out, which led to the attack. Yet the owner refused to accept his folly and argued under the influence of alcohol that we must have hit the dog, which provoked it to bite my son's right leg. We immediately rushed him to hospital and took necessary treatment," Seema, a teacher, told TNIE.

In the other incident, the girl was bitten by a dog owned by a certain Sudhir, inside an elevator in a BDA apartment complex near Whitefield, a few days ago. Ekta Ranjan (49), a resident of the apartment block in Kadugodi, filed a complaint against Sudhir and a woman residing here.

"Around 7.30pm, the girl was in the lift on her way to her flat on the 11th floor, along with the woman and her dog who were going to the 16th floor. When the girl's parents went to the dog owner's flat to inquire about the incident, they were allegedly beaten and pushed out," the complaint said.

IISc experts find faster, greener evaporation tech

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

TO make water purification greener, Indian Institute of Science (IISc) scientists have developed a way to make faster evaporation techniques. The study was done by researchers from the Department of Chemical Engineering (CE), IISc.

At present, water purification, particularly for desalination, makes use of membrane distillation, which works by evaporating contaminated water. The vapour passes through a porous material. Due to the flexibility in heating water through renewable energy, the process of membrane distillation is more preferred for water purification.

To bring down the use of energy for evaporation, IISc researchers have arrived at a combination of the perfect membrane and water solution, that which precipitates evaporation compared with other combinations of membrane and water solution.

Researchers said they used nanoporous graphene, a material that is highly hydrophilic (incredibly water absorbent).

In particular, the type of graphene that they found was highly effective, at the ångström scale. One ångström is one ten-billionth of a metre. Working at that scale, the researchers used different solutions of water, including water mixed with potassium chloride, sodium chloride and lithium chloride, for membrane distillation. Experiments revealed that the fastest evaporation and water vapour absorption occurred with nanoporous graphene that was 4.53 ångström with a potassium chloride mixture.

The researchers could increase the rate of evaporation 35 fold. They said that this would reduce the energy requirement of the process.

With Union govt discontinuing sale of rice and wheat from its quota to states, Siddu govt looks at options for Anna Bhagya

K’taka has to go to rice bowl with begging bowl

Youth Congress members protest against the Centre for discontinuing the sale of rice and wheat from its pool, in Bengaluru on Friday | VINOD KUMAR T

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

DOES the Karnataka government literally have to beg for rice? While Karnataka desperately needs rice for its ambitious Anna Bhagya scheme, it realises that getting the foodgrain will not be as easy expected.

There are only five rice-surplus states – Odisha, Chhattisgarh, Punjab, Haryana and Telangana. Karnataka needs to go to them directly, sources said. But by this time, these states would have put their surplus rice in the market and since it has not been done, it is a big question as to where the Congress government would source the rice from, the sources said. Congressmen, who protested on Friday, asked whether the central government would have released the rice if a BJP government was in power in the state.

Experts said the situation is more complicated than just simple politics. “If we have to buy rice cheaper, then Telangana is the nearest rice-surplus state. But Telangana produces boiled rice, which is consumed in only two or three districts of Karnataka. Karnataka itself produces a fair amount of rice in Raichur and adjoining areas, but it costs a good Rs 50 to Rs 60 per kg and may not be available for the public distribution system (PDS), the experts added.

On the central government’s decision not to sell rice to any, Congress working president Saleem Ahmed said, “This shows their step-motherly attitude. Remember, during elections JP Nadda (BJP natonal president) spoke about Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s blessings? We will protest against this apathetic attitude in all districts in a few days.’’

Congress MLA Roopkala Shashidhar said, “Policies should be neutral and not favour any party. In all this, the poor will suffer.”

Food Minister KH Muniyappa said, “We are looking at states like Telangana and Chhattisgarh for rice.’’

Central government sources said if they give all the rice to Karnataka, they would be making themselves vulnerable in an election year. “Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan are going to the polls. If they too make promises of free rice, where will they get rice from,” they asked.

Former FCI chairman DV Prasad said, “About 38-45 million tonnes of rice that fill up national granaries come from kharif and so far sowing has not started because of the delay in the onset of monsoon.”

The country had around 100 million tonnes of rice, but during the Covid years the Union government gave 10 kg of rice instead of 5 kg which reduced the stockpile.

DKS: They are denying rice to poor

DURING the election campaign, BJP national president JP Nadda stated that if people did not vote for the saffron party, they would be deprived of Centre’s benefits. “They are doing it now as Congress has come to power. They are denying rice to the poor,” Shivakumar alleged. “Our intention is that no one should be deprived of food. We wanted to implement this scheme from next month for which we had approached FCI. But the next day, it stopped selling rice and wheat in the open market. This is nothing but politics of hatred. People have rejected the BJP. We will protest against the Centre’s stand at Congress offices in taluks and district headquarters,” Shivakumar said.

Asked why the State Government is not able to purchase rice from other states, he said, “We have approached the states that grow rice in large quantities. We will not disclose the names of those states. If we do so, the Union Government will pressure them to stop supplying rice to us. This scheme will not just benefit Congress, but all. Now that the polls are over, people cutting across party lines should work for the growth of the state.”

On Gruha Lakshmi, Shivakumar said the Seva Sindhu app cannot take more than 200 applications a day. Each GP has only one GramOne centre to cater to nearly 2,500 families in its limits. “We might be late, but want to do it in a transparent manner. We are developing a separate app,” he said.

New textbooks may come in next year as committee yet to be formed

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

INSTEAD of revisions, textbooks may be changed as a whole in the coming academic year. While Primary and Secondary Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa said changes would be made to the current textbooks in the form of booklets, textbooks as a whole may set to change in the next academic year. Kannada writer and committee member for the previous Baraguru Ramachandrappa textbook revision committee Allamaprabhu Bettadur, who is also set to join the current revision committee, said that new textbooks will be given the next academic year.

“The cabinet meeting was to remove controversial texts included during the BJP government’s tenure. These changes will be released through a booklet this academic year. A committee is also in the process of being formed. It will focus on developing new textbooks for the state syllabus for the coming academic year,” he told TNIE.

He said the head of the committee is yet to be decided. “The earlier committee was headed by Baraguru Ramachandrappa, but this time, he has said no because of health reasons. The committee, however, will still include members of the previous committee, including Kannada author Rajappa Dalavayi and I,” he added. Developmental educationist VP Niranjanaradhya said the reworking of new textbooks was suggested to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah during his meeting with academics. “Instead of focusing on revisions, we have suggested that new textbooks be prepared. The last textbooks were released in 2012 and are outdated,” he said.

In 2012, under the then BJP government, new textbooks had been introduced. The 2016 textbook revision committee headed by Baraguru was tasked with removing controversial content, which involved communal material, sources said. The changes announced during the recent cabinet meeting will involve reversing changes made to the textbooks last year by the committee headed by Rohith Chakrathirtha.

Sources close to the minister said that since the changes are not drastic this year, they will be implemented without the committee. “Changes suggested during the last cabinet meeting are not major as they undo the revisions made by the previous committee and add small changes,” they added.

EDUCATIONIST CRITICISES TEXTBOOK CHANGES BY CONG GOVT

Developmental educationist VP Niranjanaradhya said the current government has forsaken all due processes in implementing changes. “Unfortunately, the government has gone ahead without following due process and is making changes to the textbooks undemocratically. How is it any different from what the previous government had done, in not taking into account the criticisms of stakeholders,” he asked. “If the committee being formed consists of the same people as the previous committee under Congress, doesn’t this constitute a conflict of interest,” he asked.

Reversing policies: BJP says Cong wants to make K’taka ‘mini-Pakistan’

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BJP on Friday slammed the Congress government for reversing the policies of the previous government and accused it of trying to turn Karnataka into a “mini-Pakistan.”

Former minister and BJP MLA R Ashoka told reporters that BJP will not allow the Congress to misuse the mandate given by people.

Questioning the state government’s decision to undo the amendments to the Anti-Conversion Law, he asked what is wrong with the policy to prevent forcible conversions and allow conversions as per law. Congress goes to any extent for vote bank politics and its government is making changes in the law to appease a particular community, he alleged.

He said the BJP government had amended the APMC Act to allow farmers to sell their produce in any part of the country and not just at APMC yards, but now the Congress government is undoing those changes to help middlemen.

The government has failed to implement its pre-poll guarantees and there is talk of industries moving to other states because of power tariff hikes, he said.

On the state government’s allegations against the Centre for not providing rice for Anna Bhagya scheme, Ashoka asked whether they think “the Centre is like their in-laws’ place to provide whatever they ask. Tomorrow, if they want to sell Karnataka, can the Centre agree to it?”

The state government requires over Rs 1,10,000 crore to implement all its guarantees and that will push the state to bankruptcy. He said BJP leaders will hold a meeting to discuss their planned protest against the decisions of the state government on June 20.

CONGRESS GOVT DID NOT RAISE POWER TARIFF, SAYS KJ GEORGE

CHIKKAMAGALURU: Energy Minister Minister KJ George hit out at the BJP for claiming that the Congress government was duping people by promising 200 units of free power for each household and on the other hand, increasing the power tariff. George said that the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Committee revised power tariff on May 12 by an average 70 paise per unit for all household connections and the order was given retrospective effect from April 2023. “Our government took charge on May 18 and it has nothing to do with the decision. The power to hike or reduce power tariff lies with the KERC,” he said.

Post BSY, no one had drive to win polls, says Simha

ENS @Mysuru

DAYS after accusing a few BJP state leaders of “adjustment politics” with some Congress leaders, Kodagu-Mysuru MP Pratap Simha said that those in power after the term of BS Yediyurappa showed no interest in bringing the party back to power in the state.

The MP heaped praises on Yediyurappa saying that the veteran leader was instrumental in the BJP forming the government in 2019. “In 2018 Assembly elections, the BJP won 104 seats falling short of the halfway-mark. It was due to the efforts of Yediyurappa that the party managed to come to power in the state. As there was delay in Cabinet formation, Yediyurappa single handedly toured the state to address the problems faced by people due to floods and later due to Covid-19 pandemic,” he said.

Without taking names, Simha said that the ‘Athiratha Maharatha’ who came to power after Yediyurappa failed to take any action against the accused in the murder of BJP workers Harsha and Praveen Netteru and did not show any interest in bringing back BJP to power in Karnataka.

“BJP workers were disappointed. They were also angry as the government failed to table the Justice Kempanna Commission report on the Arkavathy Layout on land denotification. So, I have become the voice of the party workers and raise the questions,” he said. On CM Siddaramaiah’s remark that he is politically immature, the MP said that he agrees with him, but wants to know how the government will mobilise Rs 59,000 crore needed for the five guarantees.

POST-ELECTION TALK

Congress ‘sympathises’ with Bommai, but ex-CM hits back at GOP

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

CONGRESS seems to be playing politics over the Veerashaiva-Lingayat community leadership issue and targeting BJP over its delay in picking the Assembly opposition leader. The Grand Old Party that had set a narrative on the ousting of former chief minister and community leader BS Yediyurappa from the chief minister’s post in July 2021 is now predicting that former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai may miss out on the leader of opposition post.

Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha member Pratap Simha has been making allegations that some BJP leaders had struck a deal with some Congress leaders before the Assembly elections. Even as Bommai tried to defend himself, saying he never indulged in adjustment politics in his lifetime, Congress was quick to pick up the issue. It dragged Union Minister Prahlad Joshi and BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santhosh into the issue, saying they incited Simha.

“The bullet shot by Joshi and Santhosh by placing the gun over Simha’s shoulder hit Bommai’s chest. Joshi, Santhosh’s next target is Bommai, a migrant who is not allowed to enter the sanctum sanctorum of the BJP despite being a CM! “Target Lingayat” mission is complete if Bommai is finished! #BJPvsBJP”, Congress tweeted.

But Bommai continued his tirade against Congress and tweeted, “Bharatiya Janata Party has always treated the Lingayat community with respect. There is only one temple called BJP and everyone has access. It is a fact that despite @BJP4Karnataka that ruled the state for a short term, three of the four Chief Ministers, including me, belong to the Lingayat community.”

He said, “The world knows that the Congress party has not given the post of chief minister to the Lingayat community for the past thirty five years. Now the Congress party has a clear majority in the state. If you had real love for the Lingayat community you would have made the Lingayat community chief minister. There is no need to worry about our party.”

Min takes official to task over delay in aid

MANGALURU: Minister for Fisheries, Ports, and Inland Waterways Mankala S Vaidya on Friday took officials of the fisheries department to task for delay in dispensation of compensation for fisher folks who lost their lives or suffered damage while fishing. “Compensation is yet to be provided for 20 cases of fishermen deaths, injuries and damage suffered during mishaps while fishing. It has been pending for a year. Henceforth, such victims should be provided compe-nsation within a month,” he said. Officials told Vaidya that the victims were not aware of the compensation or group insurance f4acility available under PM Matsya Sampada and a deadline of 3 months to apply has ended to which the minister directed to send a proposal to remove the cut off date.

SHG women in Kolar dist try to tie up DCC bank official, say won’t repay loan

V VELAYUDHAM @Kolar

CITING a purported statement of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah before the Assembly elections on loan waiver, women members of a self-help group (SHGs) from Bairukuru village in Mulbagal taluk tried to tie up a Kolar DCC Bank representative on Friday, refusing to repay the loan they have taken. The video of women trying to tie the official has gone viral.

This is the second such incident in the district. Earlier, women from an SHG at Kyalanuru of Kolar taluk had asked another DCC Bank representative to leave the village as they would not pay any amount due. They said Congress leaders had promised to waive off such loans in the run-up to the elections and now that the Grand Old Party has come to power, they would not repay any loan.

In Bairukuru, DCC Bank representative Nagaraj reached the village with a list of people who had to repay the loans. But the women from the SHG gathered around him, with ropes ready to tie him up and shouted that they would not repay as a loan waiver had been promised by Congress leaders.

Some men from the village tried to control the situation, but the women turned against them too. The women said that the loan waiver had been promised by Congress leaders during electioneering and also during door-to-door campaigning, and they voted for the party believing that the promise would be implemented.

DCC Bank president Byalahalli Govinda Gowda told The New Indian Express that it is a big blow to the cooperative sector bank. If nearly 70 per cent of borrowers refuse to repay the amount, how would the bank run, he wondered.

Gowda said in Kolar and Chikkaballapur districts, Rs 700 crore has been released as loan to SHGs. The amount runs to Rs 2,000 crore across the state. If the government is waiving off the loans, where it the question of demanding money from SHGs, he asked.

‘Hindu-Muslim DNA the same, BJP must be inclusive’

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

WITH the 2024 Lok Sabha elections coming up on the horizon, former top cop and BJP leader Bhaskar Rao said the party should be more inclusive and take Muslims along. He was speaking at a recent BJP meeting where party general secretary Arun Singh was present.

The former police commissioner’s opinion is in sharp contrast with the agenda of polarisation adopted by the BJP, and on which the party largely depends for its electoral victories. Sources said that most BJP leaders spoke about petty issues like insufficient grants, or that transfer requests had not been complied with. It was Rao who took a different line, and when he spoke, senior party leader and former chief minister B S Yediyurappa — who has been credited with building the party in Karnataka — was making notes.

Rao said that Muslims need to be accommodated in the BJP, and citing the ancient Sanskrit phrase Vasudaiva Kutumbakam (the world is one family), said the DNA of both communities is the same.

His statement came at a meeting the party held to introspect the poll debacle, and make suggestions for the general elections. Rao suggested that the party should have a special general secretary level office-bearer with a special assignment to wrest Congress and JDS strongholds like Sarvagnanagar, Pulakeshinagar, Shivajinagar, BTM Layout, Shantinagar and Gandhinagar. While there are BJP karyakartas in all these areas, they need to work effectively to help increase the party’s vote share.

Rao told TNIE that when the CAA-NRC protests were going on, then CM Yediyurappa had instructed him (Rao) to ensure that no one was hurt or injured. This appears to be a new language in the BJP because its critics have always maintained that the party is pursuing a “communal and hate agenda”. In the saffron spectrum, Bhaskar Rao and Yediyurappa are at one end, while those who make shrill noises of lynchings, community boycotts and bans are at the other end. The BJP will be looking to take everyone along as it heads into the Lok Sabha elections.

IPS officer Bhaskar Rao, who shifted from AAP to BJP recently, contested from Chamarajpet and lost. Asked if he was looking at contesting the Lok Sabha election, he said it is for the party to decide.

The I-T Department and ED have issued summons to RV Ashok Kumar, brother of Minister Senthil Balaji, in a tax evasion case and cash-for-job scam. This comes after I-T searches on properties related to family members of Balaji in Chennai, Karur, Coimbatore, and Erode last month

TN top cop gets 3-yr jail for harassing woman IPS officer

KRITHIKA SRINIVASAN
@Villupuram

SENIOR IPS officer Rajesh Das, who was suspended for sexually harassing a young woman IPS officer, has been sentenced to three-year jail by a trial court in the 2021 case on Friday. Villupuram chief judicial magistrate M Pushparani, who also imposed a fine of ₹20,500 on Das, granted him bail and gave him time to file an appeal against the verdict within 30 days at the Villupuram principal district court.

Former Chengalpattu Superintended of Police S Kannan, who was convicted for helping Das in preventing the woman from filing a complaint, was imposed a fine of ₹500 for wrongful restrain. The court acquitted him of all other charges, including criminal intimidation.

According to the prosecution, the victim officer was on duty during the visit of then CM Edappadi K Palaniswami to Namakkal. Rajesh Das, who was in charge of the security, invited the victim to travel with him in his vehicle when he misbehaved with her.

The victim objected to his behaviour and got out of the car at Ulundurpet tollgate in Kallakurichi. The next day, she set off to Chennai in a car to meet home secretary on the issue.

Meanwhile, Das, who was then Special DGP, Law and Order, ordered his subordinates in districts enroute to Chennai to stop the victim from reaching the capital. Kannan, then SP of Chengalpattu district, blocked the officer's vehicle at Parandur tollgate with police force, and allegedly coerced the victim to come for compromise talks.

Official sources said CCTV footages from Ulundurpet tollgate and Parandur tollgate corroborated the victim's complaint. Das was initially placed under 'compulsory wait' and 'downgraded'. (Inputs from Sahaya Novinston Lobo)

Probe burial of tiger, leopard in Bandipur: Activist to Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

FORMER member of the State Board for Wildlife and United Conservation Movement Trustee, Joseph Hoover urged chief minister Siddaramaiah to order an investigation into the alleged burying of carcasses of a snared tiger and a hacked leopard in Bandipur Tiger Reserve.

He told media persons in Gundlupet on Friday that based on the statements made by forest watchers, he had alerted the Karnataka Forest Department (KFD) about Moleyur RFO Puttaraju covertly burying the carcasses.

"The incidents happened in 2018 and 2019. Considering the fact that the range forest officer had not reported the deaths of the tiger and leopard to seniors, we wrote to the Karnataka Forest Department, demanding an investigation. We gave details of those involved in the burial. The head and paws of the leopard were reportedly taken away by the poachers," he said.

Hoover said the temporary forest watchers, who were witness to the incident in the tiger reserve, were sacked by the RFO as word spread about the tiger and leopard deaths. "Despite frequent approaches, the Forest Department did not probe. Then, we wrote a letter to then CM Basavaraj Bommai, who on November 23 directed the Additional Chief Secretary for Forest, Environment and Ecology to look into the allegations by forest watchers. But there has been no communication from the authorities. We request that the government subject RFO Puttaraju to a narco analysis test. All the staff must be questioned. We request CM Siddaramaiah and Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre to order a probe," he said.

Kin of victims of religious murders get ₹25L relief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

THE state government has released a compensation of Rs 25 lakh each to the kin of four victims of "politically motivated religious killings" that took place in Dakshina Kannada district.

The government, in its order dated June 16, stated that the kin of Masood, Deepak Rao, Mohammad Fazil and Abdul Jaleel can collect the compensation amount at the Chief Minister's Office 'Krishna' at 8 am on June 19 in Bengaluru.

The order stated that the director general and inspector general of police (DG&IGP) had written to the state chief secretary to grant the compensation to the families of these deceased persons.

The amount has been released from the Chief Minister's Relief Fund.

While Masood was killed on July 19 last year at Bellare in Sullia, Mohammad Fazil from Mangalapete in Mangaluru was murdered on July 28 last year to avenge the killing of BJP Yuva Morcha leader Praveen Nettaru.

Abdul Jaleel from Katipalla was murdered on December 24 last year and Deepak Rao from Katipalla was killed on January 3 in 2018.

SP: Will end sand mafia

AFTER seeing the sand-laden tractor, Chouhan and Pramod followed it on a motorcycle and asked the driver to stop. But the driver ran the tractor over the motorcycle, killing Chouhan on the spot. Pramod was seriously injured.

Pramod's condition is stable, she said. The SP said an investigation is on and steps will be taken to put an end to the sand mafia in the district. Kalaburagi district Minister Priyank Kharge, in a press note Friday, said he has instructed the SP to conduct an inquiry into the case. Jewargi MLA Ajay Singh, in another press note, said that he has spoken to Home Minister Dr G Parameshwar, and urged him to provide a compensation of ₹30 lakh to the family members of Mayur.

CBI court had questioned shoddy investigation

THE report was, however, kept confidential by CID as part of the investigation. Rao, according to the police, was spotted in the area four days before the crime.

Following public outcry and widespread protests in Dakshina Kannada, the then Siddaramaiah government transferred the case to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in November 2013.

The CBI had submitted a charge-sheet naming Rao as the main accused. Sowjanya's father had criticised the charge-sheet and demanded further investigation. His petition was dismissed by the High Court. In April 2017, the CBI court granted bail to Rao.

The CBI court had on earlier occasion criticised the shoddy investigation. It had come down heavily on the central agency for its lapses in a heinous case of rape and murder. Besides the CBI, the DNA expert had claimed that the police had failed to collect critical evidence of semen and blood samples from the body of the victim.

GOVERNMENT OF KARNATAKA
KARNATAKA GOVERNMENT SECRETARIAT
REVENUE DEPARTMENT, M.S. BUILDING, BENGALURU

NO: ERD 7 GRC 2023 Dated: 08.05.2023

NOTIFICATION

Whereas, upon considering the reports of the District Magistrate, i.e Deputy Commissioner, Bengaluru Urban District and after due investigation of the complaints of depositors it has come to the notice of the Government, that the Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore are involved in fraudulent transactions by clandestinely and illegally collecting deposits or money from the general public and thereafter have failed to return the same either after maturity or on demand made by the depositors or complainants with promised interest and other assured benefits and thereby have failed to render the services promised to them.

And whereas, it has further come to the notice of the Government that Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore and people associating with them have been acquiring lands, movable and immovable properties, cash and others from and out of the deposits or money so collected, from the depositors or complainants and thereby deviating from the intended purposes of accepting the deposits or money.

And whereas, the Government has reason to believe that the actions of Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore and people associating with them are acting in and detrimental to the interest of the depositors or complainants whose intention was to defraud the innocent depositors, and it has become necessary to protect the interest of the depositors of the Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore.

And whereas, now the Government after considering the report of the Competent Authority, Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore and satisfying itself about the urgent need to protect the interest of the depositors and in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Karnataka Protection of interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, 2004 (Karnataka Act 30 of 2005) hereby makes the following order, namely:

"ORDER"

Now therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Karnataka Protection of interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, 2004 (Karnataka Act 30 of 2005), the Government under the circumstances stated above having satisfied that in order to protect the interest of depositors it is necessary to attach the movable and immovable properties believed to belong to Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore. Therefore, the Government hereby attaches all immovable property as specified in the Annexure to this order believed to have been acquired by the Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore either in its own name or in the name of any other person from and out of the deposits collected by the Shri Kanva Souharda Co-operative Credit Limited and Kanva Group of Companies, Bangalore and where it transpires that such money or such other properties of the said financial establishments, or the personal assets of the promoters, partners, directors, managers or members or any other person of the said financial establishments is not sufficient for the repayment of the deposits or interest or such other assured benefits to the depositors.

Note: All the aforesaid immovable property, from the date of publication of this order in the Official Gazette, shall forthwith vest with the Competent Authority, who has been appointed by the Government, pending further orders from the Special Court.

By Order and in the name of the Governor of Karnataka
(Ramesh Sanga)
Under Secretary to Government,
Revenue Department (Special Cell)

REVISE STRATEGY AS TRADE HEADWINDS IMPACT EXPORTS

Merchandise exports fell for the fourth consecutive month, while the trade deficit widened to a five-month high in May. Several key sectors saw negative growth, including petroleum products, gems and jewellery, engineering goods, textiles, chemicals, etc. On the other hand, the services sector, led by the IT industry, did well bridging the widening goods export gap, but we must avoid such part-good, part-bad performances and aim for a steady and uniform growth of the exports basket. After a noteworthy FY22 when India galloped to become the world's fifth largest economy, exports surged to a seven-year-high share in GDP. But exports growth moderated in FY23, as persisting geopolitical tensions and monetary tightening-induced recessionary fears dented demand across advanced nations.

Trade is an essential growth engine, and for India to break into the top three, we must first achieve the $1 trillion export target by 2030. More than the headline export growth number, the pattern of specialisation or the composition of exports is also crucial. For the first time, economists at RBI studied India's Export Similarity Index (ESI) and offered both good and bad news. The share of principal commodities like engineering goods, chemicals, drugs and pharma, rice, and electronics in India's overall export basket has increased in the past decade. In contrast, the share of commodities across labour-intensive items like textiles and others fell. This is in line with the shifting pattern in international merchandise trade and confirms that India is on the right track. However, only 60% of India's exports are similar to that of the G7. Likewise, in services too, post-pandemic India did close the trade gap faster than the G7, but its services ESI, with respect to the world, is lower than all the G7 nations.

One way of raising exports includes Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) with other countries. India has 14 such FTAs, besides pacts with South Korea, Japan, Australia and UAE. An analysis of the FTAs shows that India's merchandise ESI in the Asean region is lower than the Big-5 Asean economies, and worryingly, it has been falling. In contrast, Vietnam, the emerging manufacturing and export hub, has seen steep increases in its ESI values over the past two decades. Given India's aspirations of becoming a developed country, its score on export competitiveness is rather low even among Asean peers and needs urgent attention.

KERALA MUST MANAGE STRAY DOG NUMBERS

Kerala society is in conflict with its stray dog population. The death of an 11-year-old differently abled boy in a dog attack in Kannur district last Sunday worsened the friction and heightened the pressure on the state government to act. Though the exact numbers aren't available, the reality is that Kerala's stray dog population, estimated at 2.89 lakh in 2019, has grown beyond manageable limits since the Covid pandemic, thanks mainly to lapses in the sterilisation programme. There were 21 rabies deaths in 2022 and six so far this year. More than eight lakh stray dog attack cases occurred between 2016 and 2021. After a series of rabies deaths last year, the government decided to scale up vaccination and sterilisation activities, but the efforts remained ineffective. Five of the 14 districts are still without an Animal Birth Control (ABC) centre, and only about 32,000 stray dogs were vaccinated across the state in the last nine months.

According to Kerala's local self-government minister M B Rajesh, the provisions of the revised ABC Rules pose hurdles for the government in managing the stray dog population. He was pointing to how conditions like the mandatory Animal Welfare Board of India certificate for opening ABC centres, the requirement of vets with experience of performing at least 2,000 sterilisation surgeries at such centres, and other tough provisions are making the authorities' job difficult. Desperate as it is now, the government, according to Rajesh, is even exploring the possibility of invoking Section 133F of CrPC to kill stray dogs deemed dangerous.

There's no doubt that the government must manage the stray dog numbers. The rules exist for a reason, and nothing illegal should be done. However, a review is imperative if the rules are indeed part of the problem. It's an accepted fact the world over that killing strays is not the solution. The Constitution guarantees certain rights for animals, and they must be protected. ABC is the only approved way to manage the numbers. The ways suggested by experts are sterilisation of at least 70% of the strays, anti-rabies vaccination every year, regular community feeding, adoption, and removal of sick, injured, and abandoned dogs from streets to proper shelters. The government must set up more ABC centres, intensify sterilisation/vaccination programmes and create a scenario where dogs are seen as part of the community and do not become a threat to it.

QUICK TAKE

BRIDGING THE GAP

India plans to draw up a Human Development Index for primitive tribal groups. Around 28 lakh vulnerable tribals live in inaccessible areas, still getting acquainted with modern mores. They must one day access communication, electricity, education, healthcare, water and transport. But their development path must not conflict with their culture and heritage. They must gather the confidence to give up hunting or pre-agricultural techniques and slowly join the mainstream. Remember Karama Muduli? A primitive tribal girl from Odisha, she adopted modern culture but made news this year when she became a labourer despite topping her exams—a victim of cold welfarism.

It shouldn't be surprising that questions are raised about the timeliness and credibility of India's official statistics

THE JANUS OF INDIA'S OFFICIAL STATISTICS

BIBEK DEBROY

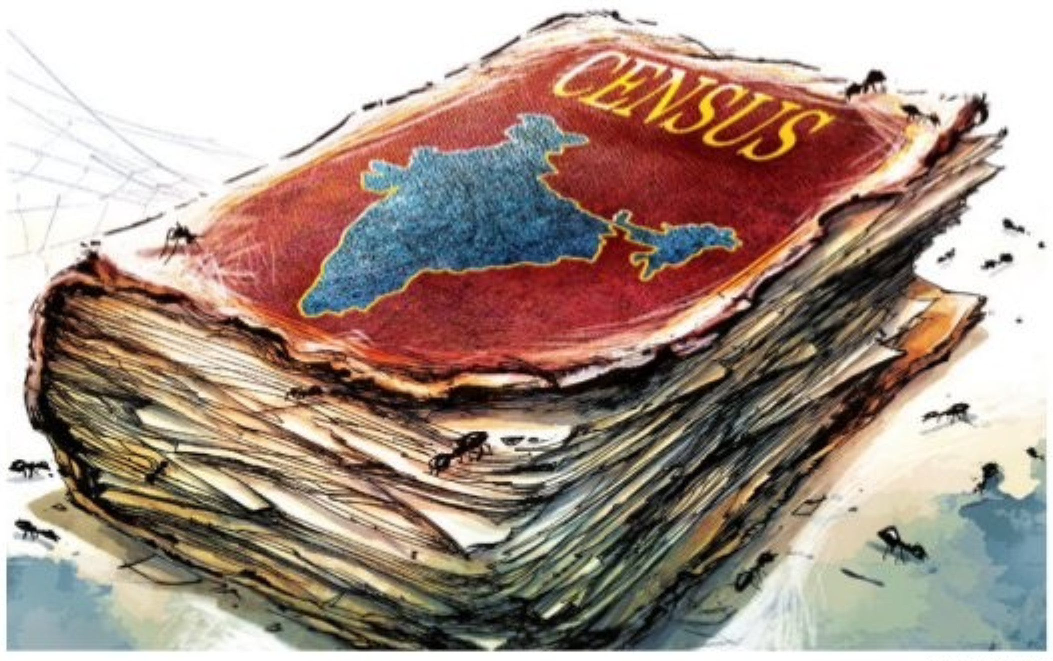
Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM



SOUMYADIP SINHA

The purpose of the statistical system is to generate data. Official data can be of three types—census, survey and administrative. Census means complete enumeration, surveys are based on samples of the population, and administrative data are used for government administration and regulation. MCA-21, GST or information on dashboards are instances of administrative data. To gauge cross-country performances, the World Bank (since 2016) has a Statistical Performance Indicator based on five heads: data use, data services, data products, data sources and data infrastructure. India doesn't do that badly on the cross-country rankings, though it should do better. The World Bank only includes civil registration and vital statistics for data sources, not any other form of administrative data. Administrative data are no substitute for traditional statistics sources such as censuses and surveys. Incentive structures are such that, depending on the indicator, administrative data tend to overestimate. There is a tendency to overplay success.

For example, dashboards will provide a figure on toilets constructed under Swachh Bharat Mission. That figure, on the percentage of households covered, needs to be validated by a survey like NFHS (National Family Health Survey). Criticisms of India's official statistics are directed at censuses/surveys. Administrative data are fairly robust (apart from the incentive mechanism) and almost real-time. Because of sole reliance on civil registration and vital statistics, the World Bank doesn't give due credit to India. Conventionally, administrative data have indeed been that—vital statistics and so on. But just as the world is still coming to grips with what Digital India has achieved, the world and the World Bank are yet to come to grips with what administrative data can accomplish today. By the way, we do use administrative data for policy decisions. MCA-21 and GST are both examples.

In contrast, our performance on censuses and surveys is riddled with holes. There are inordinate delays. It isn't merely a question of the Population Census 2021. The last Agriculture Census was in 2015–16, SECC in 2011–12, MSME Census in 2006–07 and Livestock Census in 2019. The results of the Economic Census of 2019 are still not ready. In this day and age, why does processing take such a long time? Delays also characterise surveys. The last Annual Survey on Unincorporated Sector Enterprises (ASUSE) is from 2015–16. ASI (Annual Survey of Industries) data are for 2019–20. The 2020–21 results haven't been released. For any estimation of poverty and inequality we need data on consumption expenditure distributions. The last NSSO (National Sample Survey Organisation) data are for 2011–12. PLFS (Periodic Labour Force Survey) is not quite a substitute. It shouldn't be a surprise that we don't quite have a handle on the informal/unorganised sector and its contribution to GDP. Or on services since there is no survey on services. With PPI (Producer Price Index) awaited, the GDP deflator is a problem, and we don't quite know what is happening to capital formation. Current prices (as a share of GDP) give one kind of answer, constant prices another. Add to that unrealistic samples in surveys, a point raised by my colleague in EAC-PM, Shamika Ravi.

Samples over-represent rural and under-represent urban populations. With urbanisation throughout India and better provisioning of basic necessities in urban areas, faulty samples overstate deprivation.

It isn't merely a question of sampling frame and design. MOSPI's Survey Design and Research Division spends 75% of its time writing reports. With a lack of survey statisticians, only 25% of the time is spent on survey design. There are issues with revamping ISS (Indian Statistical Service). Add irrelevant and inconsistent questions with a mechanical implant of questions from abroad. My colleague in EAC-PM, Sanjeev Sanyal, has given examples of stunting, wasting and anaemia. Sanjeev and I have highlighted how questions on mosquito nets have been donor-driven. There is a broader problem. Since there isn't sufficient domain knowledge within NSSO, it functions through a system of Working Groups. A fresh Working Group is set up every time there is a survey. That recommends a fresh set of questions, often disregarding what was asked before. This not only renders questions non-comparable across surveys, but it also renders them non-comparable for the same survey over a period of time. NFHS is one example of this. MOSPI should read (or watch) Humphrey Appleby's educational lecture to Bernard Woolley about sample surveys. It might help frame questions better. It shouldn't be surprising that questions are raised about the timeliness and credibility of India's official statistics. Nor should it be surprising that these internal data problems are used to shape a false narrative about India globally.

I am not talking about cross-country global rankings based on perceptions but those based on hard objective data. (Think of discussions on poverty, inequality and unemployment.) Janus was a Roman god who possessed two faces. (January is named after him.) India's official statistics are like that—excellent on the administrative side, mediocre on censuses/surveys.

From January 1, 2024, India will become a member of the UN Statistical Commission (UNSC), one of 24 members. The UN Statistical Division feeds into UNSC, and UNSC feeds into the UN Economic and Social Council. India was chairman of UNSC in 1954, 1956 and 1976—P C Mahalanobis in the first two and V R Rao in 1976. The UNSC meeting in 1976 was held in Delhi. The official Indian statistical system had a lot of credibility then but progressively eroded over the years. India doesn't lack great statisticians. It is just that once upon a time, they were interested in working within the government. Now, they prefer to remain outside, underscoring an inability to attract and retain talent within the government.

The last time India was vice chairman was in 2003, but by then, India's voice no longer led to changes in global statistical systems. (National accounts are one example.) That membership, for four years from 2024, shouldn't become a mere token. It should be a trigger to rehabilitate the official statistical machinery. For that to happen, there must be much reflection and internal churn. Otherwise, among other things, external indicators will suddenly be thrust upon us, and we will end up reacting, as we have repeatedly done in recent times. That is happening for ESG (Environmental, Social and Governance) norms. Since the days of the Rangarajan report in 2001, a lot has been written on deficiencies in the system. Dr Rangarajan's report was 22 years ago. Some issues mentioned then have still not been resolved.

WADING THROUGH MINEFIELDS OF HURT FEELINGS

PRATIK KANJILAL

Editor of The India Cable

SPEAKEASY

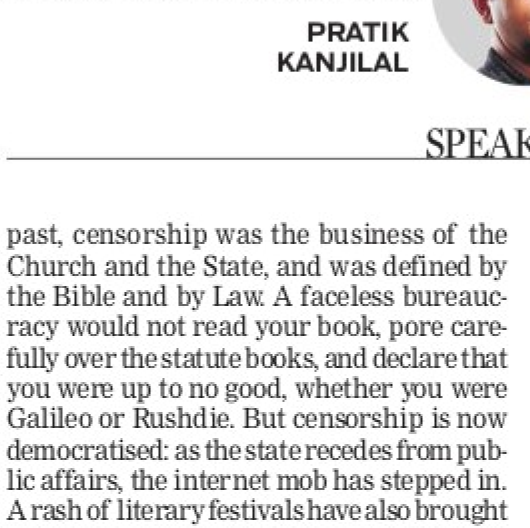
Elizabeth Gilbert, whose Eat, Pray, Love became a global bestseller in 2006, has withdrawn her forthcoming book The Snow Forest in deference to the sentiments of Ukrainian readers, who are pained because it is set in Russia. There's a certain rightness about this. Russian editions and translations are a lucrative market—a story set in Russia would sell especially well—but an author may not wish to be seen to be profiting from doing business in a nation which is under sanctions for being a murderous neighbourhood bully.

However, there is an overpowering wrongness about it, too—the novel is set in Russia because it is based on the story of the Lykov family of six, who fled from religious persecution to Siberia and lived in isolation in the taiga, like hermits and people of the woods, 250 km from the nearest settlement, for 42 years. Where else could this story be set, except the Russian taiga?

The Lykovs, who were Old Believers, decided to leave civilisation in 1936, after a family member was killed by the Russian army. In 1978, their primitive home in the forest was spotted by a chopper pilot who was ferrying geologists, but they refused to leave on his craft. Children were born and grew up in the taiga, and generations died of hunger and disease. Only one daughter survived into present times, by graduating from the hunter-gatherer life to animal husbandry. This great Russian story was eventually told in 1990 by Vasily Peskov, a journalist with Komsomolskaya Pravda, in Lost in the Taiga: One Russian Family's Fifty-Year Struggle for Survival and Religious Freedom in the Siberian Wilderness. A few films followed, the most recent made by RT on the last surviving daughter. This story of a retreat into the wild is fascinating because it runs exactly contrary to the narrative of civilisation, which runs from nomadic prehistory to the age of cities. It can be told again and again, even to Russians.

But the Ukrainians protested about the setting, not the story. They were pained "about the fact that (Gilbert) would choose to release into the world right now, any book, no matter what the subject of it is, that is set in Russia." PEN America CEO Suzanne Nossel has said that "the idea that, in wartime, creativity and artistic expression should be preemptively shut down to avoid somehow compounding harms caused by military aggression is wrongheaded."

A universe littered with hurt feelings is already hard for writers to negotiate. In the past, censorship was the business of the Church and the State, and was defined by the Bible and by Law. A faceless bureaucracy would not read your book, pore carefully over the statute books, and declare that you were up to no good, whether you were Galileo or Rushdie. But censorship is now democratised: as the state recedes from public affairs, the internet mob has stepped in. A rash of literary festivals have also brought authors into close proximity with their readerships, whose opinions are now up close and personal.



AFP

The logic of an old-fashioned boycott of Russian goods, or a sanction, is obviously right. But it's really hard to understand why setting a Russian story in Russia is wrong

In the marketplace for goods, the same phenomenon enforced ethics. The public movement against 'blood diamonds', mined in areas controlled by rebels and sold to finance war, has been hugely successful. Fair trade has caught on, and apparel makers select contractors with great care. This is the victory of the old-fashioned boycott and the power of crowds. International sanctions, like the ones applied to Russian goods and finance, are its modern, organised version.

But are cultural artefacts like books the same as market products like conflict diamonds? Should literary settings or issues which a group sees as problematic invite boycott-like pressures? Creative work in almost all disciplines, but especially in literature, is already at the mercy of the ever-evolving fashions of political correctness. While fashion in clothing is cyclical—hemlines go up and down, trousers alternately flare and narrow over the years—fashion in the ethics of creativity is ever more complicated, with more and more constituencies, interests and historical wrongs to be conscious of.

It's Pride Month, so take a look at 'LGBTQIA+'. The trailing '+' indicates that the list is inclusive and permanently open-ended. Authors cannot possibly know if their work would offend groups which will define themselves in the future. Nothing new here, though—Kipling is read as imperialist and racist in our times, not his own. That's cultural relativism or historical relativism, according to taste. But the rapidity of political change is making it harder for authors to make themselves enduringly acceptable.

Which brings us to the most important point: creative work is not supposed to please all, or please at all times. Some of the most powerful works have offended large populations. George Orwell's 1984 offended Stalinists, and there were millions of them around at the time. Throughout its long history, the Manusmriti has continued to unsettle many more millions.

But to return to the Russian question, the logic of an old-fashioned boycott of Russian goods, or a sanction, is obviously right. But it's really hard to understand why setting a Russian story in Russia is wrong. Ukraine's long-suffering people are entitled to try everything to highlight the immorality of the Russian aggression, but should a writer withdraw her book in response? Elizabeth Gilbert probably doesn't need the money from a Russian edition, but even if we forcibly equate profiting from a book set in Russia with selling blood diamonds, she could have gone ahead and published the book and donated the Russian proceeds to a charity working in Ukraine. Pardon our sexism, but they would have called her a statesman.

Senthil's arrest

Apropos of the editorial By-the-book versus expediency in the arrest of TN Minister (June 16). Keeping aside the arguments on the merits and demerits in the arrest of Senthil Balaji in the cash-for-job scam, the manner in which the arrest was made gives rise to strong suspicions that the ED acted on the Centre's instructions. The more BJP indulges in intimidation tactics, the more it will boomerang on BJP in 2024.

R Sivakumar, Chennai

Stalin's stance

The editorial ignored the fact that the allegations against Senthil were made by Stalin when he was in the opposition. The ED investigated those allegations and arrested him and now Stalin is opposing the arrest calling it vendetta politics.

POCSO case

The attempt of the Delhi Police to axe the POCSO case against Bhushan is most unfortunate. If some people, especially politicians, receive preferential treatment before law, then what is the law meant for? The entire incident mocks the law of the land and its citizens.

Political formulas

Apropos of North BJP's sole bastion for an opposition breach (June 16). The author has rightly pointed out the possible domains where the BJP can gain electoral dividends. Though Modi did not encourage freebies during elections, the BJP has to adopt welfare schemes in the election fray to outsmart the Congress, which won in Karnataka through its five promises. The Congress is now indulging in Hindu religious customs to woo voters. Chameleon politics!

S Arjun Prasanna, Bengaluru

BJP's bastion

The ground reality in the contemporary political scenario is that for BJP, north India is a safe bastion, while in south India, regional parties capture power by creating regional feelings. Still, with sustained efforts, BJP can win more Lok Sabha seats in the south by convincing voters that its government alone can counter threats from adversaries.

The letter by 33 academicians to NCERT to drop their names from the textbooks is a matter of serious concern. NCERT should desist from such unilateral revisions without taking into confidence these experts who put in collective efforts and made contributions.

Trade team to accompany Modi in Washington visit

Several agreements on defence, critical technology likely to be announced

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi is likely to be accompanied by a large trade and ministerial delegation during his upcoming visit to the US. These delegates will be from different sectors, including IT, defence, aviation and AI.

"One of the main objectives of this visit is to host bilateral meetings that will translate into announcements of various agreements pertaining to defence and critical technology, as well as setting up of manufacturing facilities in India," said a source in the PMO.

Meanwhile, it is learnt that around 20 chief executive officers (CEO) of American companies, including that of MasterCard, Accenture and Coca-Cola, are likely to meet the Prime Minister in Washington, D.C. between June 22 and 23.

"The US-India Strategic Partnership Forum, headed by Mukesh Aghi, is likely to facilitate interactions between PM Modi and business honchos, including Adobe Systems CEO Shantanu Narayen, Accenture CEO Julie Sweet, Visa Inc's Ryan McInerney, Mastercard's Michael Miebach and Coca-Cola's James Quincey," they said.

Important members of Indian diaspora too would be meeting the PM. Modi will address a gathering of 1,500 Indians at the John F Kennedy Centre.

Meanwhile, the Biden administration has urged India to ease bureaucratic processes to facilitate contracts for drones. "Regulatory mechanisms will be eased to facilitate smooth trade between India and US," a source said.

India-US bilateral trade reached $128.55 billion during financial year 2022-23, making the US India's largest trading partner. During the same period, trade between India and China fell 1.5 per cent to $113.83 billion.

Besides trade, talks will also take place on Ukraine, the Indo-Pacific security and China, said sources. They further added that not only will this be a historic visit, but will also set the precedent for enhancing trade and bilateral ties between the two countries.

"There will be new domains of strategic partnership announced during this visit. Industries of the two countries will come together. Issues faced by the Global South would be discussed too," said the source, adding that the PM Modi and President Biden will spend a lot of time over meetings with each other.

Besides the ceremonial reception and the State dinner, one of the most anticipated events would be Modi's address at the US Congress. This would be the second time Prime Minister Modi is speaking at the US Congress.

PM to interact with top business heads in US

The US-India Strategic Partnership Forum, headed by Mukesh Aghi, is likely to facilitate interactions between PM Modi and business honchos, including Adobe Systems CEO Shantanu Narayen, Accenture CEO Julie Sweet, Visa Inc's Ryan McInerney, Mastercard's Michael Miebach and Coca-Cola's James Quincey, according to sources in the PMO.

WEATHERING BIPARJOY STORM

The noise surrounding the trail of destruction that cyclone Biparjoy would leave in its wake has somewhat subsided since its formation 10 days ago in the Arabian Sea. However, as it made landfall near Jakhau Port in Gujarat on Thursday evening, with wind speeds ranging between 115 kmph and 140 kmph lives were shattered.

IMPACT

Cyclone Biparjoy has left behind a trail of destruction. The cyclonic storm Biparjoy wreaked havoc in Gujarat on Thursday, injuring 23 individuals. Heavy rain and high winds uprooted 1,137 trees and obstructed 263 roads, damaging 5,120 electricity poles, leading to power disruptions in over 4,600 villages. Though there were no direct fatalities, a tragic incident occurred in the Bhavnagar district, where a cattle rearer and his son lost their lives while attempting to rescue their goats trapped in a ravine. Although it is premature to provide an exact count, the number of fatalities is expected to be low.

IS INDIA BETTER PREPARED?

Sufficient shelters, power supply, medical provisions, and emergency services were put in place. Fifteen teams of the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF), twelve teams of the State Disaster Response Force (SDRF), 115 teams from the state road and building department, and 397 teams from the state electricity department were put on alert. 33 teams were assigned by the NDRF for relief and rescue operations in Gujarat. The Bhuj Air Force station served as a base for the Indian Air Force's 'Garuda' Emergency Response Team. The Army personnel were fully prepared to aid in rescue and relief operations. Nearly one lakh people were evacuated to safer areas.

HISTORY

Biparjoy became the fourth major cyclone to impact the Gujarat coast in the last five years. Cyclone Vayu made landfall in 2019, followed by Nisarga in 2020, which affected both Maharashtra and coastal Gujarat. In 2021, Tauktae made landfall near Diu-Una, resulting in widespread destruction. Gujarat has faced four major cyclones from 1998 to 2018 over a span of 20 years.

ODISHA INSPIRATION

The preparedness was motivated by what is now seen and called the Odisha model. The state has emerged as a role model in terms of evacuating people and saving lives. From experiencing 10,000 deaths during the Super Cyclone of 1999 to only 10 deaths during Cyclone Yaas in 2001, Odisha has set a precedent, according to experts. Odisha achieved this feat by emphasizing community-level warnings, constructing multipurpose cyclone shelters under the National Cyclone Risk Mitigation Project, and establishing an Early Warning Dissemination System.

HOW ARE CYCLONES FORMED?

The Indian subcontinent is one of the most severely affected. With a coastline stretching 8,041 kilometers, it is exposed to nearly 10 % of the world's tropical cyclones. The majority of these originate over the Bay of Bengal and strike the East coast of India. On average, 5-6 tropical cyclones form every year, with 2-3 of them potentially becoming severe.

BIPARJOY AND THE PROCESS OF NAMING

The name 'Biparjoy', suggested by Bangladesh, means a major disaster. The selection of this name, along with other tropical cyclone names, followed a meticulous and unbiased process. The 13 participating countries in Asia-Pacific region, adhered to guidelines to prevent biases related to politics, figures, beliefs, cultures, or gender.

Mobs on the prowl, Manipur burning

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

THE house of Union Minister of State for External Affairs R K Ranjan Singh was torched by a mob on Thursday night as the violence in Manipur refused to die down.

Defying curfew, over 1,000 people swooped down on Singh's private residence in Imphal East district and set it on fire after overpowering the security personnel and guards. He was in Kerala when the arson attack happened.

Sources said the attack could not be thwarted as the mob was overwhelming. An earlier mob attack on his house on May 25 was thwarted by the security personnel deployed there.

On Friday evening, a warehouse owned by a retired senior police officer in Imphal was torched by a mob that also fought a pitched battle with the police. The personnel fired tear gas shells to disperse the crowd. The confrontation was on when reports last came in.

In another incident, miscreants torched four vehicles in Kakching district in Imphal.

Minister blames CM for Manipur violence

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

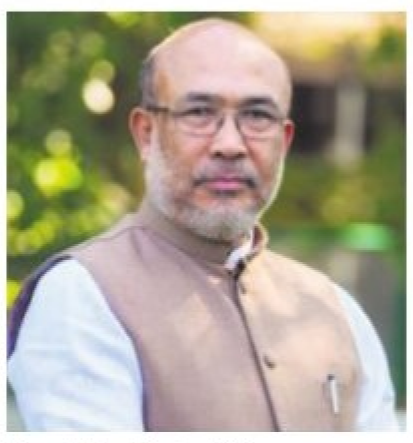
A DAY after the arson attack on his residence in Imphal, Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader and Union Minister of State for External Affairs R K Ranjan Singh on Friday made no bones about admitting that the Biren Singh-led government has totally failed to maintain law and order in the state.

He told journalists in Kerala, where he was attending a programme of his party, that law and order in Manipur has completely broken down. The BJP-led government has failed to maintain peace despite the Centre sending a large number of troops, including that of the Rapid Action Force, he said. He had no idea why the state machinery has failed.

Meanwhile, the Congress has been stepping up its attack on the BJP and Prime Minister Narendra Modi for failing to protect the lives and properties of the people in Manipur.

"Modi government's shameless drumbeating about Northeast India has drowned the voices of humanity in Manipur," Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge had said two days ago.

RK Ranjan Singh, MoS External Affairs



Biren Singh, Manipur CM

"Why has the 'double engine' BJP government failed to restore peace and normalcy in Manipur? Is it because the BJP intends to widen the fissures between ethnic groups for its cheap political gains? Why hasn't the PM not called an all-party meeting to deliberate political solutions?" the Congress president had asked.

Singh said he was shocked that his home had been attacked twice. "My own house has been burned down. That's my own sweat... hard-earned money. I am not corrupt. No one is corrupt in this regime. If this was something religious, then I am a Hindu. The attackers were Hindus. So, this is not religious. This is a mob," Singh told the reporters.

"I never expected such kind of attitude and activities from my fellow citizens. I pray to God that this does not happen again. The first time (May 25), I had somehow convinced them (mob) and the security personnel helped protect the house," Singh said.

He said everything was normal on Thursday night and then suddenly a mob carried out the attack. The house was on fire, but the fire brigade personnel could not enter the area as people blocked the road, the minister said.

"I don't know why they are attacking me. I am trying to bring peace and talking to senior ministers and colleagues (at the Centre) to restore normalcy. But this unwanted incident happened," he said.

The Central minister said he has been trying to stop the violence and bring peace to the area since May 3 when the ethnic clashes broke out in Manipur.

After the back-to-back attacks, he said that there could be an attempt on his life a third time and he now fears for his life. Singh cancelled all his party programmes in Kerala and left for his home state following the incident.

The state has imposed a curfew in 11 districts and banned internet access in a bid to stop the spread of rumours in the state.

Over 100 people have lost their lives in the ethnic clashes that broke out on May 3 after a Tribal Solidarity March, organised by a tribal students' union to oppose the move for the inclusion of Meiteis — the state's largest community — in the Scheduled Tribes list.

Meiteis account for about 53 per cent of Manipur's population and live mostly in the Imphal Valley.

Tribals Nagas and Kukis constitute another 40 per cent of the population and reside in the hill districts.

'Wealthier nations failed to honour commitment to tackle climate crisis'

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

THE two-week mid-year United Nations climate talks held in Germany's Bonn ended on Thursday without a resolution to the dispute between developed and developing countries over finance.

The developed nations emphasised the urgent need for mitigation measures, while the developing countries demanded adequate financial support to reduce emissions and adapt to the impacts of climate change.

Environmentalists and activists from different countries criticised the conference's half-baked outcome, saying wealthier nations are not honouring the financial pledges to support developing countries in adaptation. Environmentalists accuse wealthier nations to their historical role in driving the climate crisis.

"The Bonn Climate Change Conference laid bare the glaring hypocrisy of wealthy nations, showcasing a remarkable indifference to the struggles of developing countries," says Harjeet Singh, Head-Global Political Strategy, Climate Action Network International.

Experts say wealthier nations are more interested in providing private funds and loans, which will further burden developing countries. "Developing nations face the monumental task of eradicating poverty, fostering green development, and coping with climate disasters. They deserve unwavering support, not undue pressure," said Singh.

Countries gathered in Bonn, Germany, from June 5-15 for the UN's mid-year climate conference, also known as the Subsidiary Bodies meeting (SB58). The conference was led by two bodies — the Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice and the Subsidiary Body for Implementation, within the UNFCCC. The conference will lay the groundwork for the 28th UN Conference of Parties in December this year.

UGC chief takes a jibe at academics criticising NCERT textbook revision

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

AFTER a group of academicians distanced themselves from the NCERT textbooks and sought their names to be dropped, more than 100 educators defended the revised chapters vigorously. They slammed the "narrow and self-interested" academics for maligning NCERT.

Joining this group, which consisted of professors and vice-chancellors of India's top institutes, including JNU, IITs, IIMs and Central Universities, was the University Grants Commission chairman M Jagadesh Kumar who claimed that the objective behind the "grumbling of protesting academicians was non-academic."

"There is no merit in the hue and cry of these 'academicians'," said Prof M Jagadesh Kumar, the former vice chancellor of JNU. "NCERT has been revising textbooks from time to time in the past. NCERT is fully justified in rationalising its textbook contents," he said in a series of tweets.

Calling the academicians who wrote to the NCERT asking to drop their names from the political science textbooks as "arrogant and self-interested," the group of 106 academicians, in a letter, said, "Through misinformation, rumours and false allegations, they want to derail the implementation of the National Education Policy-2020 and disrupt the updation of NCERT textbooks."

> NCERT has been revising textbooks from time to time in the past. It is fully justified in rationalising its textbook contents
>
> M Jagadesh Kumar, UGC chairman and former Vice Chancellor of JNU

"Their demand that students continue to study from 17-year-old textbooks rather than updated ones in sync with the contemporary developments and pedagogical advancement reveals intellectual arrogance," they said.

"In their quest to further their political agenda, they are ready to endanger the future of crores of children," they said.

New promotion plan in the offing for top officers of armed forces

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE exercise to reorganise the war-fighting structures of the country moved forward on Friday with the department of military affairs deciding to pave the way for a common annual confidential report for senior officers serving at two star and three star ranks of the armed forces: the Indian Army, Navy and Indian Air Force.

Sources said initially, a common Confidential Report for two and three-star officers has been approved to be implemented. The implementation timeline is approximately three-four months.

Terming this step as a reform, the sources said the move will prove instrumental in the path towards achieving commonality in procedures, and assessments, leading to better outcomes in terms of 'Jointness and Integration'.

This is further going to be extended to the other ranks in future, said another source. The Annual Confidential Report (ACR) is the method adopted for an objective and impartial assessment of the character, conduct, capabilities and performance of an officer.

Representative image

Currently, for posting in combined or triservices appointments, the selection system is based on parent service-specific parameters.

Approving a major reform at the higher defence management level, the government formed the Department of Military Affairs (DMA) in 2019 with the appointment of the Chief of Defence Staff (CDS) as its secretary. The formulation of the Theatre Command is the mandate of the CDS along with integration and synergy of the armed forces.

The mandate of the DMA includes the facilitation of restructuring of a total of 17 Military Commands for optimal utilisation of resources by bringing about jointness in operations, including through establishment of joint/theatre commands. This move at the senior levels follows the recent step at the grassroots level.

In May, around 100 officers from the Army, Air Force and Navy were to be sent for cross-postings in all arms and services, including logistics, aviation and artillery. These officers will be equivalent to the ranks of Majors and Lieutenant (Lt) Colonels. From the Indian Navy, officers at the ranks of Lieutenant Commanders and Commanders will be part of the cross-postings while from the Indian Air Force; cross-postings will be from the rank of Squadron Leaders and Wing Commanders.

Be role models for other institutions, Speaker Birla exhorts legislators

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

LOK SABHA speaker Om Birla on Friday said the uproar, sloganeering and adjournments are not a good sign for democracy and legislators should maintain high standards of discipline and decency.

Delivering the inaugural speech at the first National Legislators Conference in Mumbai, Birla lamented that the recent incidents of commotion and interruptions in the House were a matter of grave concern.

"Being the highest public representative institution, legislators are expected to work as a role model for other institutions and organisations of the country. So, the legislators should be maintaining high standards of discipline and decency in their public life as incidents of unruly behaviours tarnish their images," he said.

The sole responsibility of legislators is to effectively convey issues of the public interest, wishes, aspirations and needs of the populace to the executive, he said, adding that it is imperative on the part of the legislators to self-analyse the shortcomings and find solutions to future challenges.

"If the solutions to the problems are not found by discussion and dialogue, then there will be judicial intervention which is not appropriate for the democracy," he remarked.

Sounding a note of caution, he said that public representatives must not only be accountable to their people, but also to ensure transparency in all their actions. Earlier in the day, the speaker inaugurated Dr APJ Abdul KALAM Innovation Expo that showcases good governance models and innovative development models.

Fadnavis warns Shinde over advert

Deputy CM speaks to CM & his son, says such moves can result in toppling of the govt

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

HOURS after claiming that one advertisement will not create cracks in the ruling alliance in Maharashtra, deputy chief minister Devendra Fadnavis is believed to have warned the father-son duo, state Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and his son Lok Sabha MP Dr Shrikant Shinde, over issuing such advertisements.

Fadnavis met the father-son at Sahyadri Guest House in Mumbai on Thursday. The Deputy CM told Shinde and, particularly his "overexcited" son Dr Shrikant Shinde, in the closed door meeting that such advertisements could result in toppling the government.

Shinde and Fadnavis travelled to Palghar together in a helicopter to launch a 'government at door-step' scheme. The two praised each other with Shinde terming his friendship as 'Jai Viru ki Jodi' and 'Fevicol ka jod.' Fadnavis said their government is not so weak that one ad could create cracks in the alliance government.

Post Palghar meeting, Fadnavis requested Shinde to have a closed-door meeting at Sahyadri along with Shinde's son Lok Sabha MP Dr Shrikant Shinde on Thursday late at night. The meeting went on for a little over half-an-hour. Fadnavis blasted Dr Shrikant Shinde for his "misadventure" over the advertisement episode.

Eknath Shinde

Devendra Fadnavis

Ad row: What is it all about?

The first controversial advertisement came out on June13. It carried a photo of Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Citing a survey, it claimed Shinde was more popular as the CM face than his deputy Devendra Fadnavis with 26 and 23 per cent popularity votes respectively. On June 14, the Shinde-led Sena, in a damage-control measure, released another ad featuring both Shinde and Fadnavis

The advertisement cited a survey to say that Shinde is more popular as the CM face than his deputy with 26 and 23 per cent popularity votes respectively.

The Shinde-led Sena refused to take ownership of the controversial advertisement, but the matter was "resolved by giving another correct advertisement."

Sources close to Devendra Fadnavis said he went deeper into the matter to ascertain who was behind it.

"I have gathered all information related to this advertisement. Dr Shrikant Shinde and his PR team were behind it. The ad can put the government in trouble and topple it as well. Do you want to see that? There will be adverse impacts of such misadventure. You and your PR firms should restrain from publishing such damaging advertisements. This PR exercise should be stopped," Fadnavis is learnt to have told them.

After the ad came out, Fadnavis skipped two public events where the CM was supposed to be present, citing ill-health. Maharashtra BJP chief Chandrashekhar Bawankule also expressed displeasure over the ad and admitted that the BJP leaders and workers were hurt.

NCP leader Ajit Pawar in his reaction to the unfolding episode said that it was unprecedented. "In my political career, I have not seen this kind of advertisement. PM Narendra Modi and CM Shinde's photos were there in the advertisement. They (Shiv Sena) say that they are the soldiers of Balasaheb Thackeray, whereas Balasaheb Thackeray's and Anand Dighe's photos were missing from the advertisement," Pawar said.

Meanwhile, UP deputy chief minister Keshav Prasad Maurya in his ongoing Maharashtra tour, appeared to offer the olive branch to Uddhav Thackeray, saying the doors were open for talks.

"He can speak with BJP leadership and resolve the differences," Maurya said, adding the dialogue has to be initiated by Uddhav. However, Maharashtra BJP state president Chandrashekhar Bawankule said opening the door for Uddhav is Maurya's personal opinion. "It is not the official party line," saying the matter was closed for them.

J&K admin notifies elections to urban local bodies in '23

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

AMID uncertainty over holding of Assembly polls in Jammu and Kashmir, the Lt Governor administration, on Friday, in a notification appointed nodal officers for elections this year. Anil Koul, secretary, housing and urban development department has been appointed as the nodal officer for municipal elections in Jammu and Kashmir in 2023.

Koul will be dealing with all issues concerning municipal corporations and municipalities and will work with the deputy director, secretary of respective ULBs/municipal corporations who will provide all assistance and coordination to the nodal officer for smooth conduct of municipal elections in 2023.

Polls after Amarnath Yatra

There are more chances that the elections may be held earlier than the scheduled time. It may be held in September-October after the completion of Amarnath Yatra

The five year term of urban local bodies is coming to an end in November this year. While the term of Srinagar Municipal Corporation would end on November 5, 2023, Jammu Municipal Corporation's term is expiring on November 14. The five-year term of municipal councils and committees would also come to end in October-November this year.

The last urban local bodies polls were held in October 2018 in J&K during governor's rule. The NC and PDP had boycotted the ULB polls citing threat to J&K's special status. 10 months after holding of ULB polls, centre had scrapped J&K's special status and had bifurcated the state into two UTs.

There are more chances that the elections may be held earlier than the scheduled time. It may be held in September-October after the completion of Amarnath Yatra.

J&K is under the central rule since the collapse of PDP-BJP coalition government in June 2018 and political parties have been demanding holding of Assembly polls in the UT so that the elected government is put in place, which can address and resolve the public issues. The parties have accused BJP of delaying the Assembly polls fearing defeat.

AI for accurate diagnosis at Shopian hospital

In a first, Artificial Intelligence (AI) has been rolled out in a government-run hospital in Kashmir. The District Hospital Shopian in south Kashmir has become the first hospital to start AI technology in the Radiology department for efficient diagnosis. Chief Medical Officer Shopian Dr Arshad Hussain Tak said AI tools can instantly point out abnormal areas in X-rays with over 90% accuracy, making the final diagnosis easier for radiologists. The introduction of Artificial Intelligence at District Hospital Shopian will ease the work of the radiologists and give more accurate classification, enhanced analysis and quicker results.

Youth working as painter cracks NEET-UG

A youth from south Kashmir's Pulwama district, who was working as a painter to support earnings of his family, qualified the Medical Entrance exam NEET-UG. Belonging to a poor family, Umar Ahmed Ganai a resident of village Zagigam in Pulwama district cracked the NEET exam by securing 601 marks. Umar had never been to the coaching centre as he could not afford the coaching expenses. Instead of going to a coaching centre, he was working as a painter to support his poor family. "I belong to a poor family. I have been working as a painter for the last two years and used to earn ₹600 per day," Umar said.

Biometric attendance for students introduced

In order to ensure regular attendance of the students, biometric attendance for students has been introduced in a government higher secondary school in Saujiyan, Mandi near Line of Control in Poonch district. At least 275 students of 9th to 12th standard of the school are covered under this biometric attendance system. All of them will now have to do biometric attendance on arrival in the morning and on their departure as well. In order to bring transparency, the school would be sending the monthly attendance of the student in a PDF format to the parents of the students. The school hopes this will bring more transparency.

HAM quits Grand Alliance, Nitish says Manjhi was 'snooping'

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

BREAKING his silence on Hindustani Awam Morcha (HAM) patron Jitan Ram Manjhi's decision to quit the Grand Alliance (GA), Bihar CM Nitish Kumar on Friday alleged that Manjhi was snooping on GA's allies adding that he had given him the option of merging his party with his JD(U).

Talking to the media on the sidelines of the swearing-in of JD(U) MLA Ratneshwar Sada as a minister, Nitish said Manjhi kept on meeting BJP leaders when he was in GA. He said he had asked Manjhi to merge his party or quit the GA. However, Manjhi decided to distance himself from the GA as his son resigned from the cabinet.

"I was already convinced that Manjhi would quit the GA but he always claimed before me that he would not go anywhere," the CM said.

Nitish said that Opposition leaders would hold a meeting in the state capital on June 23 and Manhji would have told all details of deliberations held in the meeting to the BJP leaders, had he been with the GA.

"This is why I had told him clearly to either merge your party with JD(U) or leave the grand alliance," he added.

Without taking the name of LJP (Ram Vilas) chief and MP Chirag Paswan, Nitish said a conspiracy was hatched to ensure the defeat of JD(U) candidates in the last state assembly election. He said that all party candidates either those who won the election or lost the polls, told him later that BJP did not support them in the polls. "Still I continued my relationship with BJP but later left NDA," he remarked.

It is alleged that Chirage on persuasion of BJP had fielded his party candidates against JD(U) nominees in the election to cut into the latter's votes and ensure their defeat in 2020.

SGPC appoints new Akal Takht high priest days after controversy

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee on Friday appointed Giani Raghbir Singh as the new Jathedar (High Priest) of the Akal Takht (highest temporal seat of Sikhs). He replaces Giani Harpreet Singh who stepped down, after a controversy erupted last month over his attending of the engagement ceremony of AAP MP Raghav Chadha with Bollywood actor Parineeti Chopra in New Delhi.

The decision to replace Singh was taken at an emergency meeting of the SGPC executive body today at its headquarters at Teja Singh Samundri Hall in the Golden Temple complex in Amritsar. Harpreet Singh, however he will continue to be the Jathedar of the Takht Damdama Sahib in Bathinda – another temporal seat of sikhs.

After the executive meeting, SGPC President Harjinder Singh Dhami said that Harpreet Singh, who was the acting Jathedar of the Akal Takht, himself expressed his wish to relinquish the charge.Harpreet Singh has been the Jathedar of the Akal Takht since 2018.

Victory in elections should depend on votes, not on bodies: Bengal Guv

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

OBSERVING that perpetrators of pre-panchayat polls violence in West Bengal would be silenced and 'victory in elections should depend on the count of votes, not the count of bodies', Governor C V Ananda Bose on Friday visited Bhangar, in the South 24 Parganas district, to take stock of the situation.

The flare-up between two groups, at the minority dominated pocket, just ended with an array of skeletons of torched vehicles and unexploded crude bombs lying on roads.

The death toll in the area rose to three on Friday and the Indian Secular Force, the outfit floated ahead of 2021 Assembly elections, claimed the victims were their workers.

After spending half-an-hour at the trouble-torn area, Bose said, "I interacted with the victims of violence and local people. I can assure the people of Bengal that violence will be the first victim in this election. The perpetrators of violence will be silenced permanently under the Constitutions and laws of the land. The peace loving people of Bengal have a right to exercise their franchise unfearful of anybody else."

Refuting the allegations of violence, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, while addressing a rally in Kakdwip in South 24 Parganas, said one or two stray incidents took place. Her comment came shortly after Bose's Bhangar visit.

"There is no other state other than Bengal where nominations for panchayat polls is so peaceful. The opposition parties are trying to blame us over one or two incidents during the nomination exercise," Mamata said. The panchayat polls, which will be held in one phase on July 8, are likely to witness a fierce contest between the TMC and opposition parties as the electoral exercise is being considered a litmus test for all forces to gauge their strength ahead of 2024 LS elections.

Mamata slams CPM, BJP for 'maligning' TMC

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

LAMBASTING the BJP for being joyous after the Calcutta High Court ordered to deploy central force across the state for the upcoming panchayat elections, West Bengal chief minister said nothing will happen in the rural polls under the watch of the central force personnel as the people will vote for her Trinamool Congress.

"Why central force is not sent fi a person is gunned down by the BSF personnel, if a person is murdered in the name of implementing the National Register of Citizens. The state poll panel has been directed to deploy central force in the panchayat elections, what will happen? Nothing will happen," said Mamata.

The Bengal CM alleged the CPI(M), Congress and the BJP joined hands to defeat the TMC in the panchayat polls which, she said, would prove a futile attempt.

IIM Ranchi revises syllabus, includes tribal languages

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Indian Institute of Management-Ranchi, in a bid to be inclusive and mindful of tribal communities and cultures, has introduced elective courses called 'Enrichement Electives' that will provide students an opportunity to learn tribal languages. The course has been introduced across all the first three years of the Integrated Programme in Management (IPM), providing an opportunity to students to learn a local tribal language as part of their elective course in second year.

These 'Enrichment Electives' would provide a fresh perspective to students through courses like cinematography, Socratic dialogues, water management, sports management, story-telling, human connect, drama and theatre, art and painting among others.

Some new courses like 'Science of Happiness, Sustainability, Social Work, and Tribes in India' have also been introduced as compulsory courses for undergraduates in IPM, according to IIM-Ranchi officials. Students also have the possibility to learn a local tribal language in the language elective course scheduled in the second year, they said.

IIM-Ranchi director said that the institute as a part of its strategic plan, 'IIM Ranchi@2030' has undertaken a detailed review of courses across the programmes. The changes were deep and comprehensive and have been aimed to bring the latest developments in the industry and the society to the classroom, he said. "This development is expected to encourage faculty members to introduce new and innovative courses catering to industry demands. Students are expected to benefit from these courses and explore new domains and create a unique niche for themselves while increasing their employability quotient at the same time," said IIM-Ranchi Director Dr Deepak Kumar Srivastava.

In the post-graduate programmes, the concept of elective courses received a major boost as the second year in all the three full time post graduate programmes of the institute, have been made completely flexible. Compulsory courses in the three terms of the second year have been replaced with elective courses. Students have the possibility to select electives from across all study areas of the institute in all the three terms of the second year. Mid-term examinations have also been made flexible to provide greater academic freedom to faculty members.

Considering the focus on liberal arts as a part of the comprehensive revamp of the courses, the institute has also created a new area called liberal arts and sciences through the merger of pre-existing general management and humanities and applies sciences areas. The strategic management area has also been renamed as strategy and entrepreneurship area to highlight the new focus areas of the Institute.

Denied ambulance, tribal labourers carry body of newborn in bag in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

A tribal family from MP's Dindori district was left with no option but to carry the body of their low birth weight (LBW) newborn child in a bag, allegedly after being denied a vehicle by the staff at the government medical college in Jabalpur on Thursday.

However, the authorities have promised a probe.

The newborn's family, while saying that the newborn died during treatment at the medical college hospital, has alleged that the staff didn't provide them a vehicle to carry the body home to Dindori district (around 160 km from Jabalpur) forcing them to carry the body in a bag by a private bus.

On the other hand, a senior health department official in Jabalpur district, has claimed that the newborn child, which was under treatment at the medical college hospital's special newborn care unit (SNCU) didn't die at the hospital, as the child was discharged alive on the family's request.

Tribal labourer Sunil Dhurve with the newborn child's body in a bag | EXPRESS

The child's father Sunil Dhurve told journalists in Dindori on Friday that the child was born at the government hospital in native Dindori district on June 13, but owing to the serious condition, the child was referred to the state government medical college in Jabalpur on June 14.

"The baby was subsequently admitted at the medical college in Jabalpur, but died on Thursday (June 15)" Dhurve alleged.

The Jabalpur district's chief medical and health officer Dr Sanjay Mishra had a different version. "As per what has been told to me by the medical college dean and hospital superintendent, the newborn was LBW, so the baby was referred from government hospital in Dindori to government medical college in Jabalpur on June 14. The child was under treatment at the medical college's hospital's SNCU," said Dr Mishra.

JAPAN RAISES THE AGE OF CONSENT TO 16 FROM 13

Japan's age of consent was raised from 13, among the world's lowest, to 16 years old on Friday as lawmakers passed key reforms to sex crime legislation

THE NEW LAW

The changes make sexual intercourse with someone below age 16 as rape. They specify 8 scenarios of "consentless sex crimes," a new term for forced sexual intercourse

They ban filming and possession of sexually exploitative images taken without consent

WELCOMING THE MOVE

Campaigners welcomed the reforms, with the Tokyo-based group Human Rights Now calling them "a big step forward"

The lifting of the age of consent in particular will "send a message to society that sexual violence by adults against children is unacceptable," the group said

Japan last revised its criminal code on sexual offences in 2017, but activists said the reforms were insufficient

It means that people who use intimidation, seduction or money to coerce children under 16 to meet for sexual purposes will face a prison sentence of up to a year or a fine of $3,500

The reforms also include language that for the first time criminalises voyeurism, which had only been regulated by regional ordinances before

CRIMINALISING VOYEURISM

The bill that passed on Friday contains a list of examples under which rape prosecutions can be made

These include victims being under the influence of alcohol or drugs, being frightened and perpetrators taking advantage of social status

A justice ministry official told AFP earlier this year that the clarifications were not "meant to make it easier or harder" to secure rape convictions, but "will hopefully make court verdicts more consistent"

A penalty of up to three years' imprisonment or a fine of up to three million yen will be imposed for secretly filming private body parts, underwear or indecent acts without a justifiable reason

The bill also contains a new "visitation request offence," as per the justice ministry

Biden eases eligibility criteria for Green Card

WASHINGTON

Only 7% Cards go to people from one country

A Green Card, known officially as a Permanent Resident Card, is a document issued to immigrants to the US as evidence that the bearer has been granted the privilege of residing permanently. Immigration law provides for approximately 140,000 employment-based green cards to be issued each year. However, only 7% of those green cards can go to individuals from a single country annually.

THE Biden administration has eased norms by releasing policy guidance on the eligibility criteria for those waiting for green cards to work and stay in America, days ahead of PM Narendra Modi's visit.

Modi is visiting the US from June 21-24 at the invitation of US President Joe Biden and First Lady Jill Biden. The visit includes an address to the Joint Session of the Congress on June 22. The guidance issued by the US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) regarding the eligibility criteria for initial and renewal applications for Employment Authorisation Document (EAD) in compelling circumstances is expected to help thousands of Indian technology professionals who are in the agonisingly long wait for a Green Card or permanent residency.

The USCIS guidance outlines specific requirements that applicants must meet to be eligible for an initial EAD based on compelling circumstances.

These include being the principal beneficiary of an approved Form I-140, being in valid non-immigrant status or authorised grace period, not having filed an adjustment of status application, and meeting certain biometrics and criminal background requirements.

Further, USCIS will exercise discretion to determine whether an applicant demonstrates compelling circumstances justifying the issuance of employment authorisation. PTI

INDIAN KILLED IN BUILDING COLLAPSE

A 20-year-old Indian worker was killed when a concrete wall collapsed on him during the demolition of a building structure in Singapore's Central Business District, officials said on Friday. The Indian national employed by Aik Sun Demolition and Engineering was found dead under the rubble after part of the Fuji Xerox Towers building in Tanjong Pagar collapsed during demolition works on Thursday. Rescuers found the body of the worker late on Thursday after more than six hours. His body was pinned under two metre of debris, The Straits Times reported. In a separate report, the newspaper identified the victim as Vinoth from Tamil Nadu

BANANAS TO GENERATE 1.07 BN BAHT

Thai bananas and their goods to Japan will generate up to 1.07 billion baht this year due to their popular demand, the government said. Government Spokesperson Anucha Burapachaisri said that demands for bananas in Japan have been rising since the fruit is healthy and can be used as ingredients for desserts. He said that Japan's weather is not suitable for banana cultivation, causing low yields. As a result, the country imports more than 1 million tonnes of bananas per year, NNT reported. Burapachaisri said the govenment is working to boost the potential of fruit exporters and farmers in the country

MILLET MELODY

Modi joins singer Falu for a song on super food

NEW YORK

PM Narendra Modi has collaborated with Grammy Award-winning Indian-American singer Falu for a special song to promote benefits of millets.

The 'Abundance in Millets' song, performed by Mumbai-born singer-songwriter Falguni Shah, known more by her stage name Falu and her husband and singer Gaurav Shah, is set for release on June 16 across streaming platforms.

"PM Modi has written a song with me and my husband Gaurav Shah," Falu told PTI. She said the song, written in English and Hindi, will be made accessible to everybody and highlights the power of millets.

"Falu and Gaurav Shah will release the track 'Abundance in Millets' featuring the Honorable PM Narendra Modi on June 16, 2023 in celebration of the International Year of the Millets. 'Abundance in Millets' was created to raise awareness of the super grain as another potential key to minimising world hunger," said a statement on Falu's website.

Falu, who received the Grammy Award for Best Children's Album in 2022 for her album A Colorful World, said the idea to write a song about millets came to her when she met Modi last year. She said PM Modi suggested to her she should write a song with a message of ending hunger during their discussion on the power of music to bring change and uplift humanity.

Missiles hit Kyiv as leaders from Africa push for peace

Ukraine says it shot down 6 Kalibr missiles, 2 reconnaissance drones

KYIV

A woman cries as she carries her child, leaving the scene of a Russian rocket attack that ruined her house in Stari Petrivtsi close to Kyiv, Ukraine on Friday | AP

A delegation of leaders and senior officials from Africa sought in Ukraine on Friday ways to end the country's full-scale war with Russia and ensure food and fertiliser deliveries to their continent, though an air raid in Kyiv during their stay provided a reminder of the challenges they face.

The delegation, which included the presidents of South Africa, Senegal, Zambia and Comoros, first went to Bucha, a Kyiv suburb. The delegation's stop in Bucha was symbolically significant, as the town has come to stand for the brutality of Moscow's February 2022 invasion of Ukraine. The Russian occupation of Bucha left hundreds of civilians dead in the streets and in mass graves. Some showed signs of torture.

The members of the delegation represent a cross-section of African views about the war. South Africa, Senegal and Uganda have avoided censuring Moscow for the conflict, while Egypt, Zambia and Comoros voted against Russia last year in a UN General Assembly resolution condemning Russia's invasion. Many African nations have long had close ties with Moscow, dating back to the Cold War when the Soviet Union supported their anti-colonial struggles.

While in Bucha, the visitors placed commemorative candles at a small memorial outside St. Andrew's Church, near one of the locations where a mass grave was unearthed.

Shortly after, air raid sirens began to wail in Kyiv. Mayor Vitali Klitschko reported an explosion in the Podilskiy district, one of the city's oldest neighbourhoods.

"Russian missiles are a message to Africa: Russia wants more war, not peace," Ukrainian Foreign Minister Dmytro Kuleba tweeted.

The Ukrainian air force said it shot down six Russian Kalibr cruise missiles, six Kinzhal hypersonic ballistic missiles and two reconnaissance drones. It gave no details on where they were shot down.

Meanwhile, Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy on Friday ruled out talks with Russia as he met with a delegation of African leaders.

"I clearly said several times at our meeting that to allow any negotiations with Russia now that the occupier is on our land is to freeze the war, to freeze pain and suffering," Zelenskyy told reporters after meeting several leaders including South Africa's Cyril Ramaphosa.

The delegation is to meet with Vladimir Putin on Saturday. Agencies

Part 1 of nuke warheads sent to Belarus: Putin

President Vladimir Putin on Friday confirmed Russia had sent nuclear arms to its ally Belarus. "The first nuclear warheads were delivered to the territory of Belarus... This is the first part," Putin said. "By the end of summer, the end of the year, we will complete the process," of transferring nuclear weapons to Belarus, he said. Tactical nuclear arms are battlefield weapons that have a smaller yield compared to long-range strategic weapons.

EXPOSING VIETNAM WAR SECRETS

Daniel Ellsberg, who leaked Pentagon Papers, dies at 92

NEW YORK

DANIEL Ellsberg, the history-making whistleblower who by leaking the Pentagon Papers revealed longtime government doubts and deceit about the Vietnam War and inspired acts of retaliation by President Richard Nixon that helped lead to his resignation, has died. He was 92.

Ellsberg, who announced in February that he was terminally ill with pancreatic cancer, died on Friday morning, according to a letter from his family released by a spokeswoman, Julia Pacetti.

Until the early 1970s, when he revealed that he was the source for the stunning media reports on the 47-volume, 7,000-page Defence Department study of the US role in Indochina, Ellsberg was a well-placed member of the government-military elite.

He was a Harvard graduate and self-defined "cold warrior" who served as a private and government consultant on Vietnam throughout the 1960s, risked his life on the battlefield, received the highest security clearances and came to be trusted by officials in Democratic and Republican administrations.

He was especially valued, he would later note, for his "talent for discretion."

But like millions of other Americans, in and out of government, he had turned against the yearslong war in Vietnam, the government's claims that the battle was winnable and that a victory for the North Vietnamese over the US-backed South would lead to the spread of communism throughout the region. Unlike so many other war opponents, he was in a special position to make a difference.

IMF wants Pak to default, says Dar; blames geopolitics for stalled loan

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Finance Minister Ishaq Dar has blamed geopolitics for a stalled IMF loan package and said that global institutions wanted the country to default like Sri Lanka and then take part in the negotiations.

He said no reason had been given by the IMF for the 'unnecessary delay' behind the ninth review, which has been pending since November.

Dar also reiterated that the country would meet its obligations with or without the IMF bailout package. "IMF or no IMF, Pakistan will not default," he was quoted as saying by the Dawn newspaper.

He alleged that geopolitics was behind the stalled loan programme as global institutions wanted Pakistan to default like Sri Lanka and then enter negotiations, it said.

Dar, however, said the negotiations with the IMF were ongoing and the ninth review would be complete this month.

Dar said on Thursday that although demands for arranging guarantees for $3 billion from friendly bilateral partners had been met as committed earlier, the remaining $3 billion have been assured by the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank.

The minister said China realised the politics behind the unnecessary delay and its commercial banks agreed to roll over loans to Pakistan.

He said the assurance of $3 billion was given by Saudi Arabia and the UAE to the IMF, besides $400 million from the World Bank RISE project and $250 million from the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank.

His remarks came after the IMF raised several issues in Pakistan's budget for the fiscal year 2023-24, calling it a "missed opportunity."

Dar said IMF's reservations on the current budget might be valid, but the IT, agriculture and Small and Medium Enterprise (SME) sectors were the 'drivers of growth' and exemptions given to these sectors were inevitable to ensure the country's economic growth.

EC gets power to declare poll dates without President's nod

A bill aimed at empowering the Election Commission of Pakistan to announce election dates without the consent of the President was passed in the Senate on Friday despite opposition from lawmakers from ex-PM Imran Khan's party. The Elections (Amendment) Bill 2023 was moved by Pakistan's State Minister Shahadat Awan in the upper house. The statement of objects and reasons of the legislation states that the Constitution envisages the duty of the Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) to organise and conduct elections honestly, fairly, and in accordance with the law.

‘New settlement rules incentivise wilful defaulters’

SACHIN KUMAR @Mumbai

THE RBI’s recent decision to allow banks to go for compromise settlement with wilful defaulters may incentivise such defaulters, according to some bankers. However, they say that the new norms will boost the recovery for banks from distressed accounts.

The RBI, on June 8, issued a circular which stated that the regulated entities may undertake compromise settlements or technical write-offs of accounts categorised as wilful defaulters or fraud, without prejudice to the ongoing criminal proceedings against such debtors. As per the circular, proposals for compromise settlements in respect of debtors classified as fraud or wilful defaulter shall require approval of the board in all cases.

Banks have been doing settlements with defaulters earlier under the settlement schemes but the final decision was of the lenders to go ahead with the settlement. Bankers fear that now wilful defaulters may put pressure on the banks for settlement with new norms in place.

“In the previous one time settlement schemes, it was banks’ discretion to go for the settlement with defaulters. Banks took the decision only after doing proper due diligence,” a zonal manager of a public sector bank told this newspaper.

“Now, our concern is that the a wilful defaulter may come to bank for settlement citing the central bank’s circular and banks might come under pressure to follow the rules. The circular has intuitionalise or accorded a legality to the process of settlement with wilful defaulters,” he added.

Bank unions have also expressed concern about RBI’s new rules saying that it would encourage the wilful defaulters.

“The RBI’s norms will incentivise wilful defaulters and will lead to more defaults,” Devidas Tuljapurkar, General Secretary, Maharashtra State Bank Employees Federation told this newspaper.

“We demand for stringent laws to recover bank dues and amendments in the code of conduct for the elections disqualifing wilful defaulters. In the process it is wilful defaulters who are being rewarded. We demand for review in the central bank’s decision in this behalf,” Tuljapurkar said.

However, bankers agree that the new norms are expected to boost the recovery from distressed loans.

“Compared to legal process, settlement is a quick way to recover dues from defaulters. Now the defaulters know that if they settle the dues, they would get loans in future. Banks’ recoveries from distressed loans will get a big boost,” a senior bank official said.

Govt expects Moody’s to upgrade sovereign rating

Govt explains assessment of economy to Moody’s to help analyse

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

FINANCE ministry officials on Friday met Moody’s team and sought rating upgrade from the global agency, as per sources. They also questioned the agency about its parameters on which it rates economy of countries.

“Last year, Moody’s retained India’s sovereign credit rating of Baa3 with a stable outlook, while Indonesia was rated at Baa2. We have questioned the parameters on the basis of which they gave a better rating to Indonesia,” a top source told this newspaper. Last year, Moody’s mentioned “stable outlook reflects our view that the risks from negative feedback between the economy and financial system are receding”.

Earlier this year, top finance ministry officials had met the heads of top global rating agencies, Fitch and S&P Global, and pitched for rating upgrade on the back of better economic dynamics post Covid-pandemic. Fitch kept India’s sovereign rating at ‘BBB-’ with a stable outlook on the back of robust growth and resilient external finances. However, it mentioned that the weak public finances remain a challenge for the country. Meanwhile, S&P Global Ratings retained India’s sovereign rating at ‘BBB-’ with a stable outlook. It said that India’s strengths lie in a fast-growing economy and strong external balance sheet while highlighting its weak fiscal performance and low GDP per capita.

Besides this, the ministry officials discussed the borrowing plans of the country, its disinvestment targets for current fiscal and state budgets with Moody’s representatives. According to sources, the global agency acknowledged the positives of the Indian economy.

These meetings are conducted every year and a series of interactions happen over the course of the year.

“The government explained the assessment of the economy to Moody’s to help it analyse the country’s state of economy in a more coherent way. The meeting happened in the most cordial atmosphere,” a ministry source said.

The government, for the full year, estimated GDP to have grown 7.2% in FY23, according to the second advance estimates of national income, as compared with 9.1% in FY22. The Indian economy registered a growth of 6.1% in the last quarter of FY23, as against the growth of 4.5% in the previous quarter, according to the government data.

BOJ KEEPS RATES LOW, DOVISH GUIDANCE

The Bank of Japan (BOJ) on Friday maintained its ultra-easy monetary policy despite stronger-than-expected inflation. The central bank reiterated its stance on inflation that it will slow later this year. It suggests its desire to wait until there is clarity on whether more demand-driven, durable price rise will take hold. With inflation exceeding the BOJ's 2% target for over a year, Ueda left room for a possible policy shift by dropping warnings on inflation risks. The central bank maintained its -0.1% short-term interest rate target and a 0% cap on the 10-year bond yield. The yen tumbled broadly following the BOJ's announcement, hitting a fresh 15-year low of 153.97% euro and sliding 0.25% at 140.66 to the dollar. Benchmark 10-year Japanese government bond yield briefly fell to 0.4% after the decision.

SHARES TRACK WALL STREET RALLY

Asian stock markets witnessed moderate gains on Friday after Wall Street benchmarks rallied longest in a year and a half. The Bank of Japan (BOJ) kept its ultra-lax monetary stance unchanged as expected. BOJ decision came at a time when most of the central banks across the have sought to rein in inflation by raising interest rates. Current inflation in Japan has surpassed the BOJ's target of about 2%. Nikkei 225 index edged 0.66% higher to 33,706.08. Share prices have been trading around their highest level in more than 30 years. Japanese yen has weakened against the dollar and other major currencies, reflecting the gap in interest rates in Japan and elsewhere. Hong Kong's Hang Seng jumped 1.07% to 20,040.37 and the Shanghai Composite index edged up 0.63% at 3,273.33.

PAK FM BLAMES GEOPOLITICS FOR STALLED IMF LOAN

Ishaq Dar, the finance minister of Pakistan, has blamed geopolitics for a stalled IMF loan package. The minister said that global institutions wanted Pakistan to default like Sri Lanka and then take part in the negotiations. The country's debt deal with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) has been pending for long. The minister said IMF has given no reason for the ‘unnecessary delay’. According to a Dawn newspaper report, he said Pakistan would meet its obligations with or without the IMF bailout package. ‘IMF or no IMF, Pakistan will not default,’ the newspaper quoted him as saying. IMF had signed a deal in 2019 to provide $6 billion to Pakistan on fulfilment of certain conditions. The plan was derailed several times and the full reimbursement is still pending.

Over 11,000 fake GST registrations detected: Finance ministry

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

FINANCE ministry has detected more than 11,000 fake GST registrations and initiated action against them, according to finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman’s office.

She held a high-level meeting to review the ongoing drive against fake GST invoices to avoid GST payments.

“…Sitharaman was told that 11,140 such registrations have already been detected and action has been initiated against them. The FM was apprised of the methods being adopted like identity theft of people,” finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman’s office tweeted on Friday.

In the meeting, she took note of the existing measures undertaken by the ministry like OTP-based verification of Aadhaar and pilot of biometric-based Aadhaar authentication at the time of registration in high-risk cases.

“Revenue secretary and the Central Board of Indirect Taxes & Customs (CBIC) Chairman apprised the FM that AI/ML tools are being extensively used to identify possible fake networks,” the tweet said. The minister instructed the officials to further strengthen the registration process to curb entry of fake entities in the GST ecosystem. She called for the nationwide campaign to explain the objectives of the special drive to weed out fake entities.

GST officers have already begun a two-month special drive against fake GST registration.

The GST Council in its next meeting, to be held on July 11, will also take up the issue of tax evasion and discuss measures to plug the loopholes so that people don’t claim GST refund through fraudulent measures. In the meeting, the group of ministers’ report on taxing online gaming, casinos, and horse racing will also be taken up, a top government official confirmed to this newspaper.

60,000 GST entities identified for physical verification

In the ongoing drive against the fake goods and services tax (GST) registration, 60,000 entities have been identified for physical verification, Vivek Johri, Chairman of Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) said on Friday on the sidelines of the conference on Trade Facilitation organised by confederation of Indian industries (CII). ENS

Bima Sugam launch likely to be delayed

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE launch of Bima Sugam, an online marketplace for buying and selling insurance policies, is likely to be delayed beyond August timeline as Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI) is working on fine-tuning the product.

Talking to reporters on the sidelines of the annual summit of the Insurance Brokers Association of India, Debasish Panda, Chairman of IRDAI said the insurance regulator is working to make the platform “as glitch free as possible”.

Bima Sugam once launched will serve as an online insurance marketplace where insurers have the opportunity to offer and sell their products, while consumers can buy or renew their policies and raise claims.

PVR shares fall 3% as ‘Adipurush’ movie receives negative feedback

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

CONTRARY to expectations that Adipurush would give a big boost to PVR Inox shares, the negative reviews from filmgoers who watched the big-budgeted movie on the first day of its release dragged down the stock by more than 3%.

PVR Inox shares closed 3.40% lower on Friday at Rs 1,448 apiece on the NSE.

“The negative reviews may have had a repercussion on PVR shares which witnessed a good rally on Thursday,” Jinesh Joshi - Research Analyst, Prabhudas Lilladher told this newspaper.

He added that the movie’s weekend box office collection is expected to be high due to advance bookings but the litmus test for Adipurush will be from Monday when word of mouth will have its real impact.

According to trade pundits, around 6 lakh tickets for the movie, based on Hindu epic Ramayana, were sold till Sunday for its Hindi and Telugu versions in PVR Inox outlets. The Prabhas starrer movie is said to be made with a budget of Rs 500 crore.

Movie critic Taran Adarsh in a tweet on Friday called the movie disappointing and gave a rating of 1.5 stars out of five. He added director Om Raut had a dream cast and a massive budget but he created a ‘huge mess’.

Many other leading critics also slammed the movie for poor VFX, weak dialogues and underwhelming direction.

In a report titled ‘Can Lord RAMA rescue PVR-INOX in 1QFY24E’, Prabhudas Lilladher said the movie’s performance will be critical for PVR-Inox’s fortunes in Q1FY24E.

“So far, 4 movies have crossed the net box-office collection barrier of ₹100 crore in 1QFY24 and if Adipurush is able to net upwards of ₹500 crore, we believe PVR-Inox will report a better performance than 4QFY23,” said the brokerage, which has a buy rating on the stock with a target price of ₹1,879.

PVR-Inox had reported a net loss of Rs 333 crore for the fourth quarter that ended March 31, 2023.

Market at peak; Zerodha CEO says no bull run yet

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

EVEN as domestic equity market has gained substantially in the past a few months and now trading close to its all-time high, the co-founder and CEO of country’s largest stockbroker- Zerodha - does not feel like a bull run.

“Markets are back at all-time highs, but it doesn’t feel like a bull run because retail activity isn’t picking up. Active clients on NSE, Google & social media trends are way below all-time highs. Unlikely that activity will pick up given the higher interest rate environment,” Nithin Kamath of Zerodha wrote on Twitter.

BSE Sensex on Friday jumped 467 points to close at 63,385; while the broader NSE Nifty moved 138 points to settle at 18,826. During the intraday session, Sensex touched a high of 63,520, 63 points away from its all-time high of 63,583. Kamath shared two graphs which showed a sustained fall in NSE active clients since June 2022 and the investors’ falling interest over time with the declining trend for the search of words Nifty 50 and BSE Sensex on Google. Active clients are referred to those who have traded once in past twelve months.

Kamath said high interest rates offered by low-risk investment options like bank FDs are luring retail investors who are wary of risk. “I keep telling our team that our competition is bank fixed-deposit rates, not our peers. Most retail investors question whether taking added equity risk is worthwhile when govt bonds and FDs yield 7%+,” he said.

Common USB Type-C port soon for charging devices

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA is soon expected to mandate a common USB Type-C port for charging all electronic devices.

In this regard, the Ministry of Consumer Affairs has sent its recommendation to the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology information technology (Meity).

As per reports, the panel of the Ministry of Consumer affairs has given time till June 2025 to device manufacturers to add Type-C chargers in all electronic products. Following its recommendation, now Meity will prepare a framework to implement the common USB Type-C wired charging standard. The European Union (EU) has already given device manufacturers a deadline of December 2024 for compliance. As per the Bureau of Indian standards (BIS), the purpose of using a standard Type-C charger will help India reduce e-waste and move towards sustainable development. For consumers, it will help reduce in number of chargers per consumer as they will no longer need to buy different chargers every time they buy a new device.

A BIS statement in January 2023 had said the consumer had to keep different chargers for electronic devices, which lead to extra expenditure, an increase in e-waste, and a lot of inconveniences. Countries worldwide are working to address these issues. Most Android phones come with USB Type-C ports out of the box, only Apple has to make the change. As per the reports, Apple has agreed to comply with the EU order, and it may use these features in its upcoming iPhone series. In December 2022, consumer affairs secretary Rohit Kumar Singh said stakeholders have broadly agreed on adopting the USB Type-C as a charging port for smartphones, tablets, and laptops.

Sebi bars online platforms from selling unlisted bonds

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) on Friday restricted online bond platform providers from offering products other than listed debt securities on their platforms.

Sebi allowed them to offer securities such as government securities, treasury Bills, listed Sovereign Gold Bonds, listed municipal debt securities, and listed securitised debt instruments on their online bond platforms, according to a circular. Under the rules, Online Bond Platform Providers (OBPPs) need to register themselves as stock brokers in debt segment of stock exchange. OBPs offer an avenue for investors, particularly non-institutional investors to access the bond market. Sebi said the holding company, subsidiary, or associate of an online bond platform provider will not utilise the name, brand name, or any name resembling that of the online bond platform provider for offering products and services that are not regulated by a financial sector regulator.

This comes after Sebi noted a few OBPPs have commenced operations and observed that certain OBPPs continue to offer products other than listed debt securities and debt securities proposed to be listed via a public offer on their platforms.

They are offering unlisted bonds on a separate platform or website and have not divested such offerings. Certain OBP providers have given a link on online bond platform to another platform for transacting in unlisted bonds and other products, Sebi noted.

Co believes in human + AI, not human vs AI: Infy

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

IT services company Infosys recently launched an artificial intelligence (AI)-first offering- Topaz- that accelerates business value for global enterprises by leveraging a wide range of AI solutions, including generative AI. Now, every group within Infosys is using AI/GenAI.

“In the long-run, all organisations would transition to an AI-first enterprise with AI powering all their core processes and functions. This will be necessary for unlocking new avenues to business value, future-proofing their AI investments, and tap into the next generation of opportunities,” Balakrishna D R, aka Bali, Executive Vice President – Global Head, AI and Automation and ECS, Infosys, told this newspaper.

Talking about Topaz, Bali said it enables enterprises to operate with never-before efficiencies while unlocking new avenues to business value. “Infosys Topaz brings together the power of data analytics, and AI technologies, including generative AI, and gives enterprises a jumpstart with over 12,000 AI use cases, over 150 pre-trained AI, and more than 10 AI platforms,” he said.

How will this help your clients? Bali said an international retail chain outlet, when the pandemic hit, benefited from the democratisation of data insights from internal, external, and marketplace sources made possible by Infosys Topaz. “This helped them bring together hitherto unconnected data signals and predict demand coming in from digital sources with an accuracy of over 95%, enabling them to harness greater than 60% of the opportunity at a time when in-store footfall was adversely impacted,” he explained.

Infosys has differentiated itself early in the AI space through various investments in Applied AI, generative AI, as the company was one of the first investors in OpenAI.

Ever since generative AI started gaining momentum, there have been concerns due to AI replacing human jobs, at least routine jobs in future. Bali said the potential of AI to amplify human capabilities and enhance our productivity is truly remarkable. “We need to foster new ways of thinking and a mindset shift in how we look at AI initiatives. Rather than viewing AI as a competitor, we should embrace it as an enabler. At Infosys, we believe in Human + AI and not Human vs AI. AI will reshape and redefine jobs and our ways of working, creating new opportunities and expanding the scope of human potential,” he said.

Historically, technological advancements have consistently led to creation of new jobs and industries. AI will be no exception. The shift in requirements will allow us to tap into our unique human qualities, such as emotional intelligence, critical and strategic thinking, and higher order problem-solving skills, he added.

Sethi casts fresh doubts over Pak participation in WC

Pakistan Cricket Board's chairman Najam Sethi on Friday cast fresh doubts over their participation in the ODI World Cup in India, saying it is "subject to government approval". "As far as India and Pakistan go, neither the PCB or the BCCI can take decisions. The respective governments only can take decisions," Sethi said during a press conference.

Athletes scorch track in heat

Good news for relay teams as Anjali Devi clock PB in 400m, Jyothi Yarraji wins 100m

TANMAY DAS @ Bhubaneswar

THE scorching heat was not a deterrent for athletes to scorch the track on a day when the mercury touched 44 degree Celsius and it felt like 50 degrees with the humidity. It was like a furnace during the day and not conducive for high-class performances. Though the heat lingered into the evening, it was bearable. The 100m and 400m (both men and women) had dollops of excitement with both men and women setting some good times in the heat and humidity of Bhubaneswar during the Interstate senior athletics championships.

In the 400m women's there was some cheer when two women clocked sub-52 seconds in a time when India are searching for a gold-medal combination in the 4x400m relay. India are the defending champions in 4x400m. However, since 2018 Games under mysterious circumstances top runners went missing in action or out of form. Hima Das sustained a career threatening back injury and has been since struggling to make a comeback. According to Athletics Federation of India officials, including its coaches, she cannot run 400m because her back cannot stand the stress. Another member MR Poovamma was banned for stimulant Methylhexanamine offence. Others like Sarita Gayakwad suddenly went off the radar and VK Vismaya is not performing well. The federation is looking for a combination that will fetch India medals at the Asiad.

Experienced quartermiler from Haryana Anjali Devi ran another fast final clocking 51.48s, her personal best, and looking set for Asian Games on her return from a long lay-off. Her previous best was 51.53s and her last run was in 2019. She was followed by young rising star Himanshi Malik 51.76s, also from Haryana. R Vithya Ramraj of Tamil Nadu was third with a timing of 52.49s. Aishwarya Mishra, who was in news for evading dope testers last year (she denied of course), finished fourth at 52.79s. All four are below the Asian Games qualifying mark of 52.96s. Though two of them will compete at the Games in 400m, it needs to be seen if all of them will figure in the 4x400m relay team. Anjali is quite elated and said that it had been almost four years since she competed in a meet and it was not easy. "I came with a positive frame of mind and I was here with one thing in my mind — to win the race and qualify for the Asian Games." She also said that these few years had been quite distressing. "When I had qualified for Olympic Games, just before two months to fly for the Games I had sustained an injury," she said. "These four years was the worst phase in my athletic career. Amit sir (coach) helped me a lot. I am very happy with my performance as I made a comeback with a gold and qualified for the Asian Games."

Srabani Nanda and Jrothi Yarraji after 100m race | SHAMIM QURESHI

In 400m men's it was Sri Lanka's Kalinga Kumarage who won the gold ahead of Kerala's Muhammed Anas Y and Muhammed Ajmal. Anas clocked 45.76s, while Ajmal had 45.90s and Amoj Jacob who finished fourth had a timing of 45.91s — all three had better timing than the Asian Games qualification mark of 46.17s.

Despite the heat, the Siva Kumar B managed 10.37s and in women's national record holder in 100m hurdles Jyothi Yarraji managed 11.46, a mere .01 second off her personal best. Odisha's Srabani Nanda finished second with a timing of 11.59s. Himashree Roy was third. "It's my coach who guide me to participate in which events, accordingly he prepared my training schedule and I do judicially follow that. "My 100m race will help me to improve my 100m hurdles timings tomorrow," said Jyothi.

Srabani, who will be one of the members in the relay team said: "It's just six months ago that I returned from Jamaica to participate in different events in India. It's not easy for me to adjust with the climate. It's very tough to perform in this climate here now specifically when you are organising a qualifying championship for international meets. They must provide a better climatic condition to achieve better results."

Experiment with friends and home cooked food as diet for sprinter Siva

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN sprinter Siva Kumar B came to Odisha for the Inter-state Athletics Championships, his aim was to break his personal best in the 100m race — 10.32s in the Tamil Nadu Senior State Athletic Championship a few weeks ago. However, even as he won the race, the TN sprinter managed to clock 10.37s in hot and humid conditions. Which is why, despite the triumph, Siva Kumar wasn't all that pleased with his timing. "The climate was very hot, and with the dehydration it was difficult.Tried to correct the mistakes from the morning as I did heavy warm-up at the time. It did not feel like my race at all. Later went in with a light warm-up and balanced it out," he told this daily.

Another other reason he says was that he started celebrating well before the finish line. Ask him what happened, he breaks into a laugh saying that he doesn't even remember. "Here in Odisha, there is a lot of home support cheering for the local athletes. My mind was off and my body just took over. I have never done this before. After the race many told me the same and now, I realise that I should not repeat this again," says Siva Kumar. Crowd favourite national record holder Amiya Mallik was in the race but finished last.

Having been training all by himself since last year's inter-state athletic championship, the 28-year-old from Salem said that it's been a journey of experimentation so far. "I train with the help of some friends who are studying strength and conditioning and a friend who is a gym trainer. Former athlete Suresh Sathya has helped a lot as well. We started it as an experiment of sorts. When you train by yourself, only you have to push yourself. There will be plans A, B and C, and you have to decide on how to go every day based on how your body feels. You make mistakes, record videos, look at them and try to rectify them. We will know the results only when you take part in events." The other significant challenge for Siva Kumar is the nutrition part of it. So far, he has trained with either home cooked food from his mother or his own cooking. Hailing from a middle-class family — his father has a welding shop in Salem and he is a Railways employee. "Nutrition is something I have to focus on. It is the only way to improve. I want to bring my timings below 10.20s, that is my aim," he said.

Prannoy, Satwik-Chirag in semifinals

AGENCIES @ Jakarta

INDIA'S Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty shocked top seed Fajar Alfian and Muhammad Rian Ardianto to sail into the men's doubles semifinals before HS Prannoy entered the last-four stage of men's singles competition at the Indonesia Open here on Friday. Prannoy registered a win over Kodai Naraoka of Japan.

However, world championship silver medallist Kidambi Srikanth bowed out of the men's singles competition after going down fighting to China's Li Shi Feng in the quarterfinals. The first Indian to take the court, Srikanth lost 14-21, 21-14, 12-21 in one hour and nine minutes against world No. 10 Feng. The win enabled Feng to restore parity as far as his head-to-head record against Srikanth is concerned, which stands at 1-1 now.

The seventh seeded duo of Satwik and Chirag then displayed a flawless game to outwit Indonesia's Alfian and Adrianto 21-13, 21-13 in 41 minutes. Satwik and Chirag will play the winner of the quarterfinal between Koreans Min Hyuk Kang and Seung Jae Seo and Indonesia's Leo Rolly Carnando and Daniel Marthin.

Egypt enter final; India out of WC

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

DEFENDING champs Egypt lived up to their top billing routing Japan 4-0 to reach the final of the Squash World Cup played at the Express Avenue mall here on Friday. Egypt will face Malaysia in the final on Saturday.

Karim El Hammamy opened the account for his team with a comfortable 3-0 win over Tomotaka Endo in the first match to give Egypt the lead. In the second match, Fayrouz Aboelkheir put in her best performance of the tournament as she stunned tournament top-ranked player Satomi Watanabe in straight games. She had a confident start against Watanabe by bagging a 2-0 lead with 7-5, 7-2 wins before seeing out the match with another 7-2 victory. Egypt's march towards the final was briefly halted when the impressive Ryunosuke Tsukue took a 1-0 lead against Aly Abou Eleinen. The 21-year-old rallied, though, clinching the second game on sudden death before putting the contest beyond all doubt with 7-5, 7-6 wins. Both sides opted to play the dead rubber, with Kenzy Ayman beating Akari Midorikawa 2-0 in a best-of-three.

Malaysia shock India

Hosts India are out of World Cup after a shock defeat to Malaysia in the other semifinals. Malaysia won 3-0. Malaysia took the lead in the first match, with Sai Hung Ong saving sudden death match ball and then converting in the fifth game to edge a gripping encounter with Chennai's Abhay Singh.

India's Saurav Ghosal in action against Malaysia's Darren Pragasam on Friday | M RAVIKUMAR

Results: Semifinals: Egypt bt Japan 4-0 (Karim El Hammamy bt Tomotaka Endo 7-1, 7-6, 7-2; Fayrouz Aboelkheir bt Satomi Watanabe 7-5, 7-2, 7-2; Aly Abou Eleinen bt Ryunosuke Tsukue 6-7, 7-6, 7-5, 7-5; Kenzy Ayman bt Akari Midorikawa 7-3, 7-4); Malaysia bt India 3-0 (Sai Hung Ong bt Abhay Singh 7-4, 5-7, 1-7, 7-1, 7-6; Aira Azman bt Joshna Chinappa 7-3, 7-3, 5-7, 7-4; Darren Pragasam bt Saurav Ghosal 7-5, 2-7, 7-6, 6-5).

In the second match, which was crucial for India, 18-year-old Aira Azman took a 2-0 lead against Joshna Chinappa. Joshna did well to win the third game but eventually went down 7-4 in the fourth to leave India in deep trouble. After Singh's and Chinappa's defeats, India needed wins from both Saurav Ghosal and Tanvi Khanna to have any hope of progressing. Darren Pragasam took a shock 1-0 lead against World No 19 Ghosal. The 36-year-old came storming back in the second game to check Malaysia's momentum, but Pragasam took full advantage to move into the lead with a 7-6 win in game three before breaking Indian hearts with a 7-5 win in the fourth game.

Wrestlers seek time, IOA writes to OCA

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

THE last date for the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) to send Asian Games final entries to the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA) might be July 15 but it could get delayed by at least a month. Even if the IOA sends entries from other sports in time, a list comprising selected wrestlers for the quadrennial event could only be sent latest by August 15. It is learnt that the IOA has requested the OCA in this regard.

It is understood that the ball was set rolling by a delegation consisting of wrestlers, who staged a protest against the former chief of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh. In their bid to qualify for the Asian Games, these wrestlers including Bajrang Punia, Vinesh Phogat and Sakshi Malik have written to the sports ministry to hold the selection trials by August 10 so that they can get preparation time of close to two months. The ministry agreed. "The ministry in turn asked the ad-hoc committee, which was formed by the IOA to run the WFI, to seek an exemption from the OCA. As it's the IOA that communicates with the OCA, the ad-hoc committee has written to the former to make the request seeking an extension in submitting the wrestlers' list," sources in the know of things told this daily.

The sources said the IOA has made the request to the OCA. "The ad-hoc committee has intimated the sports ministry that a request in this regard has been made by the IOA to the OCA and its reply is awaited."

If the request is accepted, the trials in six Olympic weight categories will be held by August 10 wherein Bajrang, Vinesh, Sakshi and others who staged the protest are expected to compete. However, it might complicate the issue as well as the Asian Games will be preceded by the World Championships wherein 10 wrestlers each from men's freestyle and Greco-Roman apart from women's wrestling will compete. The wrestlers including Bajrang and Vinesh have started practising at different venues.

The Worlds, which is also an Olympic qualifier, is scheduled in Belgrade, Serbia from September 16 to 24 while the wrestling competitions in the Asiad are from October 4 to 7 in Hangzhou, China. While the official entries for Asiad will be sent by the IOA, the Worlds' entries have to be sent by the WFI. "As per the election schedule, a newly-elected executive committee of the WFI will come into existence on July 6. If everything goes as per schedule, the WFI will organise trials for both events. It remains to be seen how it goes about the trials for both events," added the sources.

The ad-hoc committee member Bhupender Singh Bajwa could not be contacted for his comments on the development.

Playing with Carlsen is a huge honour: Gukesh

SIDDANTH NAIR @ Chennai

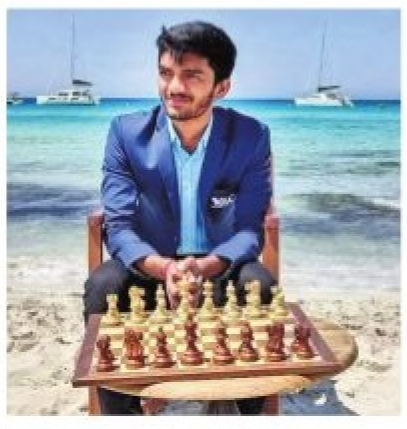
'THE poster boy of chess' in India is a title that is worthy of many contenders. In a country with a plethora of grandmasters, most very much in their early years, D Gukesh is one of them. His record speaks for itself. He is the third youngest grandmaster in history and is the 19th ranked player in the world. Not to mention that he currently ranks 2nd in the junior category. And he's only 17.

Prepping himself for the Global Chess League which is happening in Dubai from June 21, Gukesh will be representing the SG Alpine Warriors. What more, he will be playing alongside the likes of Magnus Carlsen and Elizabeth Pahtz. Beaming with excitement, Gukesh is looking forward to playing alongside his fellow Indians Arjun Erigaisai and Praggnanandha. "With Magnus in the team, it's a huge honour. And it's a comfortable feeling knowing one board is taken care of. Irina and Elizabeth are also great players, and I think we have a really strong team," Gukesh told this daily.

In a career with a long list of achievements and accolades, Gukesh rates his performance at the 2022 Chess Olympiad as the one that stands out, when he won eight straight games. "Winning eight games out of eight is truly remarkable, and for this reason, the Chess Olympiad has definitely been the most memorable performance of my career so far," he said.



D Gukesh

One must also note that Gukesh was awarded a gold medal for this staggering performance, losing only 2 games out of 11. With Chess being a game that is all about mastering the mind, it is one of the toughest sports out there. This reflects in his routine, and Gukesh believes being a chess player is challenging, with 24x7 practice required 24x7. "In general, chess players spend their whole day playing chess. For me, from the time I wake up to the time I go to bed, I only play chess. Barring a few breaks when I read and listen to music, I do nothing but chess-related things."

He also stressed on the importance of mental health, and how, if one wants to be successful, their mental health has to be taken care of and protected, much like the king piece on a chess board. "Mental health is extremely important, meditation and mental health exercises are a must," he added. Every sports person has their highs and lows, and Gukesh opines that it's his meditation that has ultimately helped him deal with losses and disappointments . "It's always tough to deal with losses. A couple of years back, I was really bad at it. But now, thanks to my meditation and a few mental health exercises, I'm much better at it."

England declare at 393/8 after Root ton on Day 1

AFP @ Birmingham

JOE Root ended his Ashes century-drought as England made 393-8 before skipper Ben Stokes's bold declaration on the opening day of the first Test against Australia at Edgbaston on Friday. England were in danger of squandering the advantage of winning the toss on a good pitch as they fell to 176-5 after losing two wickets in quick succession.

But former England captain Root was 118 not out — the 32-year-old's first Ashes hundred in eight years and 17 Tests — when Stokes called a halt to give his side 20 minutes in the field against Australia before stumps. In the corresponding Ashes campaign four years ago, Australia opener David Warner averaged a meagre 9.50 in 10 innings and was dismissed seven times by veteran England bowler Stuart Broad.But despite Broad taking the new ball on Friday, Warner survived to be eight not out in a total of 14-0 at stumps. Earlier, Root received excellent support from Yorkshire team-mate Jonny Bairstow, who made a run-a-ball 78.

Brief scores: England 393/8 decl. in 78 ovs (Root 118 n.o; Lyon 4/149) vs Australia 14/0 in 4 ovs.

Massive rockslide just misses Swiss village

EVACUATING THE VILLAGE

Brienz, in the southeastern Graubuenden region of Switzerland, was evacuated on May 12 after geology experts warned that the Alpine rock looming over the village could break loose

In recent days, local officials said rock movements on the slope were accelerating

SAVED BY AN INCH

Much of the rock mass tumbled toward Brienz between 11 pm and midnight on Thursday night, the local council said.

CUBIC METRES OF ROCK

It wasn't immediately clear how much of the 1.9 million cubic meters of rock that had been at risk of breaking away actually came loose, but the local council said it appeared to be a large part of the material

RUNNING A TIGHT SHIP

The rockslide came a bit over a week after residents of Brienz were allowed to make their first visits back to the village since the evacuation to retrieve essential items from their houses

Only two people per household were allowed in for 90-minute visits

STEPPING UP THE ALERT LEVEL

Authorities stepped the alert level up another notch after the rockslide as a precaution, closing some local roads and a railway line and evacuating two houses in the neighboring village of Surava

RESIDENTS NOT ALLOWED TO STAY OVERNIGHT

Officials said at the time of the evacuation that residents would be able to return from time to time, depending on the risk level, but not stay overnight

Russian ransomware group breaches US Dept

Officials have no evidence to suggest there is coordination between perpetrators of this attack and the Kremlin

TECH

THE Department of Energy and several other federal agencies were compromised in a Russian cyber-extortion gang's global hack of a file-transfer programme popular with corporations and governments, but the impact was not expected to be great, Homeland Security officials said on Thursday.

But for others among what could be hundreds of victims from industry to higher education—including patrons of at least two state motor vehicle agencies—the hack was beginning to show some serious impacts. Jen Easterly, director of the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency, said unlike the meticulous, stealthy SolarWinds hacking campaign attributed to state-backed Russian intelligence agents that was months in the making, this campaign was short, relatively superficial and caught quickly.

A senior CISA official said neither the US military nor intelligence community was affected. Known victims to date include Louisiana's Office of Motor Vehicles, Oregon's Department of Transportation, the Nova Scotia provincial government, British Airways, the British Broadcasting Company and the UK drugstore chain Boots. The exploited programme, MOVEit, is widely used by businesses to securely share files. Security experts say that can include sensitive financial and insurance data.

Louisiana officials said that people with a driver's license or vehicle registration in the state likely had their personal information exposed. That included their name, address, Social Security number and birthdate.

The Clop ransomware syndicate behind the hack announced last week that its victims, had until Wednesday to get in touch to negotiate a ransom or risk having sensitive stolen data dumped online.

The senior CISA official said a "small number" of federal agencies were hit and said "this is not a widespread campaign affecting a large number of federal agencies."

US officials "have no evidence to suggest coordination between Clop and the Russian government," the official said.

As water runs dry, UK restricts its use

ENVIRONMENT

LONDON: Millions of people across parts of southern Britain will be banned from using garden hoses as a hot spell sparks record demand for drinking water, authorities said on Friday.

A temporary ban for people living in the southern Kent and Sussex areas will come into force on June 26 as forecasters predict the summer will see little rainfall.

South East Water said demand in June had broken records despite the company providing an extra 120 million litres of water a day. A lack of water for sanitary facilities on Friday forced three schools in East Sussex to partially close.

"This situation has developed much more rapidly than last year," said chief executive David Hinton.

"Despite asking for customers' help to use water for essential uses only, regrettably we've now been left with no choice but to introduce this temporary use ban restriction to protect customers' supplies across Kent and Sussex," he added.

Southern Water, which supplies areas of Kent, also issued a warning on Thursday that demand for water in the county was "outstripping supply".

The provider said demand was 15% higher than expected for this time of year.

Hosepipe bans—formally called temporary use bans—are used by water companies to manage supplies at times of high demand and lower supply.

They limit non-essential usage such as watering gardens, filling paddling pools or washing cars with hosepipes. Anyone found flouting the ban can face a fine of up to $1,300. England last year had its joint hottest summer on record, tied with 2018, according to the country's meteorological agency.

Temperatures climbed to more than 40 degrees Celsius in some part of the country—a record. Areas of England are already seeing plummeting levels in reservoirs due to prolonged dry spells.

Germany marks uprising against Soviets

HISTORY

BERLIN: Germany's parliament on Friday commemorated the 70th anniversary of a popular uprising in the Communist east that was brutally crushed by Soviet-backed dictatorship.

Worsening economic conditions and political repression in East Germany had prompted months of protests, starting in rural areas, that culminated in a call on June 16, 1953, for a general strike.

The following day more than half a million people took to the streets across East Germany, including the capital, Berlin. About 50 people were killed and thousands were arrested by Communist secret police with the help of Soviet troops. Dozens of Soviet soldiers who refused to shoot protesters were executed.

The East German regime branded the uprising a "fascist putsch" instigated by the West, a claim for which there was no evidence.

It was the first revolt against Soviet rule in eastern Europe. Others would follow in Hungary and what was then known as Czechoslovakia.

Island overrun by tourists

TOURISM

The small French island of Brehat, a popular north coast tourist destination, is restricting the number of visitors this summer after seeing as much as 15 times its population arrive at its rocky shores in a single day. Brehat is joining numerous other sites around France pushing back against "overtourism" amid concerns over waste management and environmental protection. The number of day visitors, who access the island via a 10-minute boat ride from the mainland, would be limited to a maximum of 4,700 between July 14 and August 25, Mayor Olivier Carre said

US gun safety law anniversary

LEGISLATION

Just a year ago, President Joe Biden signed the first significant piece of federal gun safety legislation in nearly three decades. It was a good start, Biden has said, but it didn't go far enough. On Friday, president will speak at a summit highlighting how the sweeping law has been implemented so far. He'll also use it as a moment to push for universal background checks and the banning of "assault weapons." Last year's law, signed just weeks after a mass shooting that killed 19 elementary school children and two teachers in Uvalde, toughened background checks for the youngest gun buyers.

Seoul finds N. Korea's rocket wreckage

SPACE

North Korea attempted to put its first military spy satellite into orbit on May 31, but the projectile and its payload crashed into the sea shortly after launch due to what Pyongyang said was a rocket failure. After deploying a fleet of naval rescue ships and minesweepers plus dozens of deep-sea divers, Seoul's military said it had managed to salvage what appeared to be the main body of the rocket late Thursday from the Yellow Sea. "The salvaged object is scheduled to be analysed in detail by specialised institutions such as the national agency for defence development," the Joint Chiefs of Staff said. The wreckage was pulled from the sea bed at a depth of about 75 metres in waters about 200 km southwest of Eocheong Island, it added. Images released by Seoul's defence ministry showed a long, white barrel-like metal structure with the word "Chonma" written on it.

CONTROVERSIAL TREATMENT

Teens with severe obesity are turning to surgery and weight loss drugs

HEALTH

JOHN Simon III was a hungry baby, a "chunky" toddler and a chubby little boy, his mother said. But by age 14, his weight had soared to 430 pounds and was a life-threatening medical condition.

Nine months after weight-loss surgery that removed a portion of his stomach, John has lost about 150 pounds, boosting his health—and his hopes for the future.

"It was like a whole new start," said John, who will start high school in California this fall. In Minnesota, Edward Kent was diagnosed with fatty liver disease. The 6-foot, 300-pound high school sophomore started using the obesity drug Wegovy in January — just a month after federal regulators approved it for children 12 and older—and has lost 40 pounds.

"It's a huge deal and it will affect him for the rest of his life," said his mother, Dr. Barbara Van Eeckhout, an obstetrician-gynecologist. "This is about his health."

John and Edward are among a small but growing group of young teens turning to treatments like body-altering surgery and new drugs that rewire metabolism to lose large amounts of weight. Critics urge caution at intervening so early, but the kids and their parents say the aggressive—and often costly—measures are necessary options after years of ineffective diet and exercise programmes. "John has tried with all of his might," said his mother, Karen Tillman, 46, an accountant. "It's not because he couldn't try. It was getting harder and harder."

80% of adolescents with excess weight carry it into adulthood, with potentially dire consequences for their health and longevity. Obesity was first classified as a complex, chronic disease a decade ago by the American Medical Association, but meaningful treatments have lagged far behind, said Aaron Kelly, co-director of the Center for Pediatric Obesity Medicine at the University of Minnesota.

"It's a biologically driven disease. It's not a behavioural disease," Kelly said. "We need to get on it early. Don't wait until later in life because it's too late." In January, the American Academy of Pediatrics issued guidelines that call for considering obesity drugs for kids as young as 12 and surgery for those as young as 13. The recommendations were immediately controversial.

Mental Health America, an advocacy group, called them "dangerous" and "disheartening," saying they would increase eating disorders and perpetuate harmful stigma regarding weight. Some on social media accused doctors and parents of taking the easy way out, blaming things like junk food or video games—or accusing parents of "child abuse."

Dr. David Ludwig, an endocrinologist and researcher at Boston Children's Hospital, warned that the "justified excitement" over new weight-loss medications shouldn't eclipse non-drug options.

Medical opinion

But medical experts who treat kids with severe obesity say research is clear: Diet and exercise alone aren't enough. More than 240 diseases are associated with excess weight — including liver problems, diabetes and inflammation—and the signs show up early

Radhika Sood Nayak, part of an ensemble, speaks about an upcoming show, which unravels the beauty of the work of Sufi poets

Songs of Mystics

TUNIR BISWAS

ON Sunday, Bengaluru will bear witness to the final show of an evening of music dabbling into the mysticism of Sufi music. Ki Jaana Main Kaun (I Know Not Who I Am) promises to be a 90-minute musical, exploring the nuances of the poetries of renowned Sufi poets, and will be performed by an ensemble comprising Sufi singer Radhika Sood Nayak, guitarist Neil Mukherjee and tabla player Vinayak Netke. This being their first time performing in Garden City, Nayak says, "In a way, this is a leap of faith, but it feels exhilarating."

The concept for the show came to Nayak around seven years ago when she was watching a musical narrative on the works of Amir Khusrow. "A friend of mine was performing as well. As I was watching them perform, the only thought that kept running through my mind was why hadn't done this with our Punjabi poets yet," she says.

Even though the show unravels the beauty of the works of olden poets like Baba Bulleh Shah and Shah Hussain, Nayak assures this shouldn't wane a layperson's enthusiasm. "You don't need to understand Punjabi to enjoy the show. We have taken steps to ensure that. Both the people I will be performing with – Neil and Vinayak – don't understand the language either. But that doesn't stop them from them understanding the essence of the work," shares Nayak.

(The show will be held on June 18 at Shoonya, Centre for Art and Somatic Practices from 6.30pm)

'THIS BOOK HAS BEEN LIVING IN MY MIND FOR 25 YEARS'

Renowned historian Ramachandra Guha on receiving the Elizabeth Longford Prize for his latest book, Rebels Against the Raj: Western Fighters for India's Freedom, its origins and the literary challenge of writing an interwoven biography...

TUNIR BISWAS

IN the first half of the 20th century, British-born Indian anthropologist Verrier Elwin became the voice for the tribals of India. During those years – the 1940s – his life underwent multiple changes in succession. He denounced the clergy to work with Mahatma Gandhi, then parted ways to champion tribal communities, and became the first foreigner to be granted Indian citizenship.

Many years later, much after Elwin's passing, historian Ramachandra Guha comes across Elwin's autobiography and like his, Guha's life undergoes metamorphosis, albeit on a smaller scale. He reads the autobiography and leaves the academic knot he had tied with economics to chase a life in sociology and history. Cut to June 2023, Guha, already a globally-revered historian, wins the Elizabeth Longford Prize for Historical Biography for his 2022 book Rebels Against the Raj: Western Fighters for India's Freedom. A book, which has been 'living in his mind for 25 years'.

"Reading Elwin basically changed my whole life. I became a scholar because of him. I had even written a biography on him in 1999 (called Savaging the Civilized: Verrier Elwin, His Tribals and India). And since then, I had always thought I would write a companion to that book. The Elwin book was about one individual who fascinated me. But this book, after narrowing it down, came to be about seven people," shares Guha about the origins of Rebels Against the Raj.

> In a sense, my book is a challenge to the very crude, jingoistic nationalism that prevails in India today. Indirectly of course. It's really a story of seven individuals and is not a political or ideological work
> Ramachandra Guha, renowned historian

He is pleased to have received the Longford Prize in the 'Historical Biography' category. "I have written across various genres. I have written about contemporary history (India After Gandhi); I have written about cricket (The Commonwealth of Cricket). But I have always found writing a biography to be the most challenging of literary forms. You have to be almost like a novelist, but you cannot make things up. So in that sense, it feels nice to be recognised for a historical biography," says Guha.

Rebels Against the Raj tells the story of seven foreigners who came to India during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and became Indian to the extent that they ended up lending their lives to the Indian Independence movement. If writing a biography is a towering challenge in the literary world, how much greater was the challenge in writing Rebels...? Here, instead of telling the story of one individual, Guha tells a tale of seven.

"So, the challenge was to maintain a balance between the seven people. In the beginning, I thought of structuring the book by writing seven separate life stories. Then I adopted a different method. Chronologically, I began with Annie Besant, who came here in 1893, and then I moved on to the second person. But I then returned to Besant and essentially told all their stories in an interweaving manner. For instance, if a cricket historian had to write about Indian cricket in the '90s and '00s, he would interweave the stories of Sachin Tendulkar, Sourav Ganguly, Rahul Dravid, VVS Laxman, Virender Sehwag and Anil Kumble. For that is the larger story of Indian cricket. He wouldn't just write about Tendulkar. I think this whole idea of a group biography poses a very attractive literary challenge. To write about several individuals around a unifying theme," says Guha.

To Guha, this book is also one about politics. "In a sense, my book is a challenge to the very crude, jingoistic nationalism that prevails in India today. Indirectly of course. It's really a story of seven individuals and is not a political or ideological work. In fact, the book starts with two epigraphs from Gandhi and from Rabindranath Tagore, which addresses that a foreigner need not be a bad person. British imperialism was bad, but a common Britisher can be good, bad, whatever. Presently, people don't seem to make this distinction. The notion that you're bound by your identity and cannot transcend it is a very anti-human idea. So, I hope my book contributes to changing that," he concludes.

Pavithra Halkatti Empowers Women Weavers, Launches New Line of Clothing

Pavithra Halkatti, a distinguished businesswoman, lawyer, social entrepreneur, philanthropist, and trustee of the M. Rajsekara Murthy Foundation, who carries the legacy of her illustrious grandfather, M. Rajsekara Murthy, a prominent figure in both the Karnataka and central government, recently unveiled her exceptional line of clothing at Ave Designer store. This extraordinary gathering was dedicated to lending support to the Women Weavers Community, an initiative close to her heart.

Amidst the presence of stars and luminaries from the city, including former minister Rani Satish, Radha Deshpande, Priyanka Upendra, Shilpa Ganesh, the wife of actor Ganesh, Sangeetha Gururaj, Suma Chidananda, Revathi Raju, Saroj Bagaria, Dr. Manjula Shivashankar, Beena Bandari, Sudha Heiremath, and Lalitha Kumaraswamy, among other notable individuals, this initiative was unveiled, igniting a wave of enthusiasm among the esteemed guests.

Pavithra herself emanated a magnificent aura as she adorned a handwoven saree from her new collection, crafted skillfully by the talented women weavers.

Speaking about the launch, Pavithra Halkatti said, "As a tribute to the community of women weavers, a sizeable percentage of the sales proceeds will be dedicated towards the Helping Hand Programme, which aims at providing support and empowerment for women weavers by selling clothing materials such as sarees, and merchandise of Handloom, Khadi, Organic, Silk and Cotton products produced by them. The foundation is dedicated to creating a more equitable society by empowering women weavers who are in need."

Delicately decadent

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

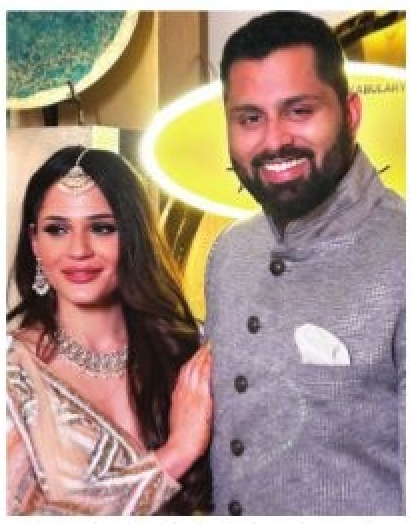
I like my ooru for its sensibilities. One may add that these sensibilities exist in all towns, but, all towns aren't struggling with becoming a metropolis are they? There are certain occasions that become a major cause for celebration, and though the inconvenience of battling large crowds is irksome, everyone makes it a point to be there.

One such occasion was the nuptials of Prasad and Judith Bidapa's daughter Aviva with the (late) actor Ambareesh and Sumanlatha's son Abishek. Both the youngsters are children of parents who are an intrinsic part of the diaspora of Bangalore. I went to college with Judy. Prasad too, was a big part of our growing-up years. I knew both sets of parents, their kids were friends with mine and the list goes on. The same affection and respect was shown by the droves of friends and relatives who came from all the corners of the world and country to revel in their happiness. I have known Aviva, the bride, since she was in her mom's tummy and she never fails to give me a (football-tackle) hug when she sees me. That she did, even dressed up as a bride! She looked like she has fallen out of heaven by mistake and both of them, 'Abiva' looked deliriously happy. Stars and luminaries danced at the sangeet, like they would do at their family wedding, the arrangements were impeccable and I for one had moist eyes when I heard the hoots and clapping as the couple and their friends took to the dance floor. My 'small-town' sensibilities danced too!



Aviva Bidapa and Abishek Ambareesh

My week has been gone by in a blur of eating. Sometimes I feel that more than my legs walking, my jaws masticate. This week I have indulged in strenuous 'hand to mouth exercise'. We traveled over hill and dale to brunch at a Thai Food Festival at Novotel. The visiting Thai masterchef Patharawut, was welcoming as he gave us a tour of the massive haul of spices and goodies he carried with him from Bangkok! We were too tired to say even a 'khap-kunkha' after a hearty meal.

Lunching with our own 'alchemist,' the uber talented Chef Vikas Seth is always a pleasure. A family lunch at Sanchez at the UB City Mall piazza is just what the doctor ordered. Basking in the sunshine, chilly margaritas' in hand and the most stupendous choice of moles (pronounced moll-aye) including the famed savoury chocolate one. As peppy Mariachi music played in the background we partook on the scrumptious chilaquiles, quesadilla and enchiladas. If we closed our eyes we could be sitting in a Taquería in Mexico. Brava chef!

My friend Manjul Gupta has an eternal demeanor of bonhomie. She loves having her 'ladies luncheons' in her beautiful home and we certainly don't mind! Her delicately decadent lunches are resplendent with tables groaning under the weight of a lavish spread, a fully stocked bar with bartenders and staff that will magically appear to help if you are looking for something! Everything was on point. But most of all, her home resounded with laughter of old friends as we laughed 'talked' and made merry.

I can certainly get used to this 'hedonistic' lifestyle!

HERE ARE THE RELEASE DATES OF SIDE A AND SIDE B OF SAPTA SAGARADAACHE ELLO

Part 1 of the fim starring Rakshit Shetty to release on Sept 1. Part 2 will be out on Oct 20

SIDE-B
RELEASING ON OCTOBER 20TH
SIDE-A
RELEASING ON 1ST SEPTEMBER
Rakshit Shetty

A SHARADHAA

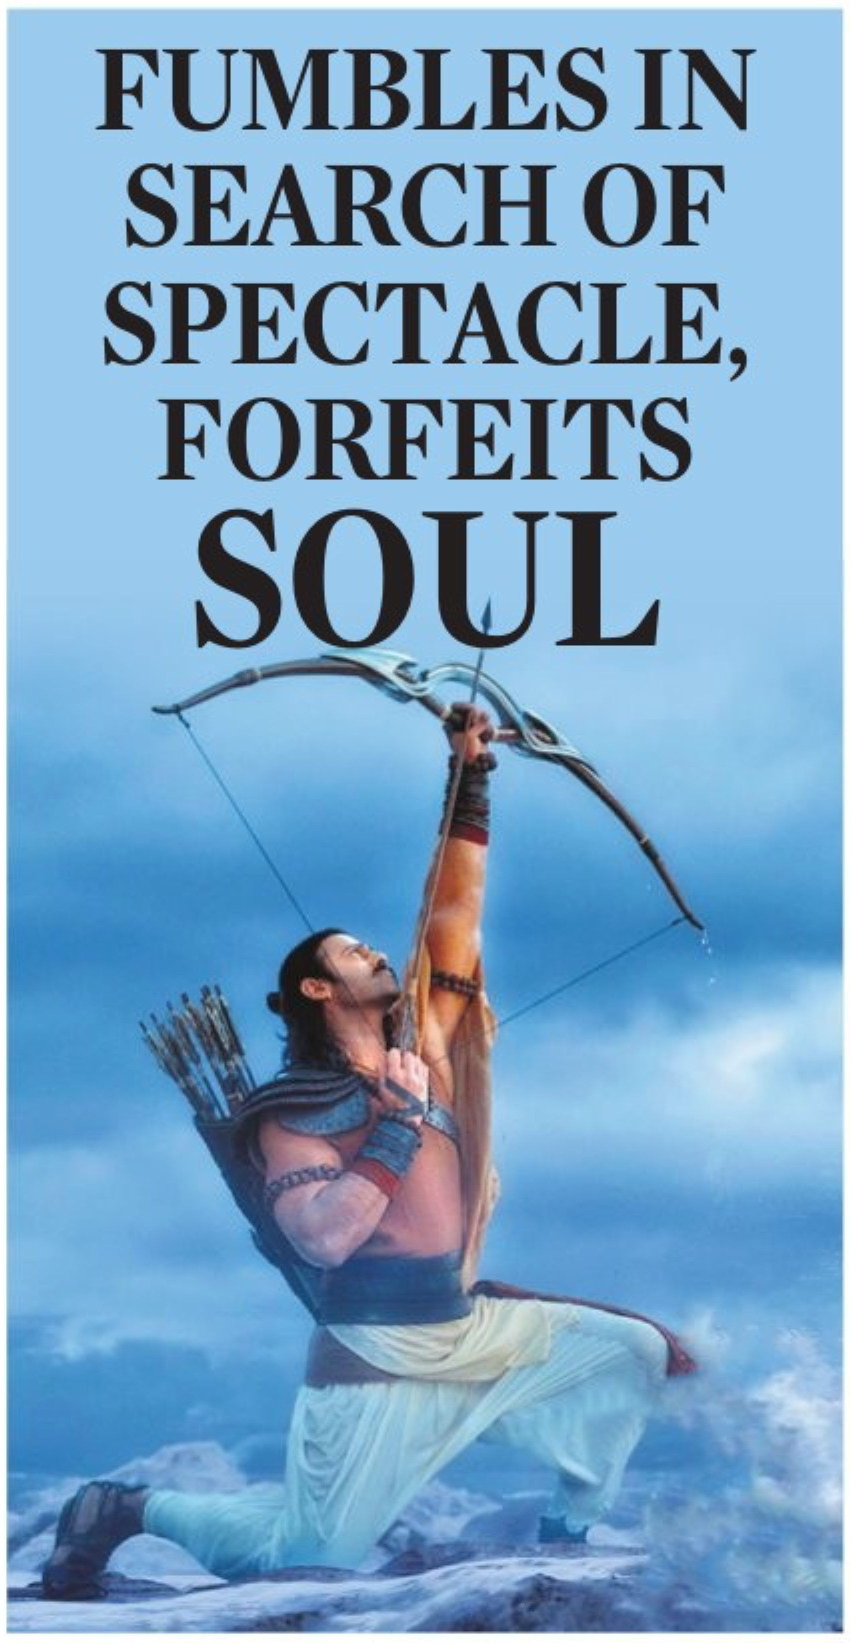
RAKSHIT Shetty's next, Sapta Sagaradaache Ello, directed by Hemanth M Rao, is preparing for a unique release strategy. The film will be divided into two parts, aptly named Side A and Side B. Recently, director Hemanth announced the release dates for both parts. While Side A will grace the theaters on September 1, Side B will be presented as a special Dasara event on October 20.

Billed as an intense love story, Sapta Sagaradaache Ello stars Rakshit, Rukmini Vasanth and Chaithra Achar. The narrative spans two different time periods, separated by 10 years, with Rakshit Shetty undergoing a striking transformation to portray distinct appearances in each era. Initially, there were plans to release the film around July 28, but now the team has revealed their release strategy.

Sapta Sagaradaache Ello marks the second collaboration between Rakshit Shetty and Hemanth after Godhi Banna Sadharana Mykattu. In a previous interview with CE, Hemanth said that the decision to divide the story into two parts was a deliberate choice to maintain full control over the development process, ensuring a cohesive and authentic storytelling experience. Hemanth also expressed the desire for the audience to enjoy the second part while the memories of Part 1 are still fresh in their minds. He revealed that Side A will have a runtime of two hours and fifteen minutes, while Side B will be two hours and twenty minutes.

The film made under Rakshit Shetty's Paramvah Pictures banner, will be distributed by KVN Productions. Composer Charan Raj and cinematographer Advaitha Gurumurthy, who have previously collaborated with Hemanth for his two films, are joining forces once again for this project.

FUMBLES IN SEARCH OF SPECTACLE, FORFEITS SOUL



SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

MY most favourite aspect of our epics, Ramayana and Mahabharata, is how their complexity lends itself to interpretations, often conflicting. It's why you can spend hours debating the smallest incidents in them. Was Lakshmana right to disfigure Surpanakha? Was Rama right to kill Vaali in the manner he did? Was Raavana right to seek vengeance? Was Raavana fundamentally evil?

Adipurush, rather disappointingly, has no take on the story. It steers completely clear of interpretations (which perhaps is the most fundamental joy in a story that is part of our individual and collective subconscious). The only interest it seems to have in Ramayana's characters is in using their aliases. Rama is Raghav. Hanuman is Bajrang. Ravana is Lankeshwar. Lakshmana is Sesh. The film is puerile in its simplicity. Ravana, who shows little kindness even towards his pet demon-bat (don't even ask), is cartoonishly evil. He's a jet-black character with an A-grade salon haircut; also black along with his soul, are his clothes, and all objects in his vicinity, including a glass he drinks out of. As for Rama and his friends, they are, naturally, resplendently white—like they all came fresh from a detergent advertisement. Their white clothes contain careful saffron touches, and the early portions capture Rama-Sita's idyllic forest dwelling with an artificial, paradisical beauty (that belongs more in the CG world than in the real). In fact, at one point, when Rama talks of Sita suffering for him, I wasn't sure what he was talking about. People would pay lakhs to live like them, as shown in the film.

In this film just short of three hours, there are few minutes of visual joys, and even fewer emotional payoffs. Ramayana is about obsession and revenge and honour and heartbreak... But this adaptation is emotionally as vacant as Prabhas' eyes. There's a strange emptiness about his performance in this film, and he seems horribly miscast as a god-king who's noble and dutiful to a fault. His heartbreak never registers as it should (given that the whole story emerges from this suffering)—and as for Sita/Janaki, the only real desperation she might feel perhaps concerns wanting to do more in this film. She's the most significant woman in this epic and is yet reduced to a mass film heroine whose chief duty is only to prop up the hero with forgettable dialogues. She's mostly AWOL in the film, and in that final battle sequence that drags on for half hour—even as unrelated CG creatures jump at each other and Rama looks fed up too—actor Kriti Sanon (who plays Sita) is simply throwing repetitive far-away glances of concern. In Adipurush, Ravana has abducted Sita not so much for revenge but because his sister Surpanakha motivates him by pointing out that he has everything, except the perfect woman (apparently, she's not a big fan of Mandodari for unspecified reasons). If Ravana saw this film, he would change his mind about risking his kingdom and life for Sita. Why bother with this woman who shows no personality? It's perhaps why his advisor, Vibhishana, and wife Mandodari behave like they couldn't care less.

For a brief period in the beginning, Saif's Ravana seemed interesting and physically imposing, somewhat like our version of Thanos. However, for lack of layers to his personality and the repetitive use of his bizarre, floating heads and his strange walk—with arms held still a long distance away from his body—even the guttural scream that constitutes his theme music begins to feel like humour. It's much like how the high-pitched, choral chants of 'Jai Shri Ram', without the backing of emotional payoffs, only come across as desperate pleas. It also doesn't help the protagonist's mass hero image in the film that actor Devdatta Nage (playing Bajrang) is made to look like a man whose mouth is over-stuffed with food.

ADIPURUSH
Director: Om Raut
Cast: Prabhas, Kriti Sanon, Saif Ali Khan and Devdatta Nage

RATING 1.5/5

Since I have mentioned Thanos, we may as well speak about how the many creatures in this film seem like Hollywood knockoffs. At some point, it seems that the makers, exposed to work like LoTR, GoT, the Marvel films... decided that there's scope within the Ramayana for such execution. Perhaps that's why Ravana's pushpaka vimana is reinterpreted as a demon-bat-dragon. Lanka itself looks like a dystopian habitat from some bad superhero film. Later, when Rama and friends stand ready to take on adversaries around them, the camera circles, as each of them pose with their weapons... like the Avengers. Meanwhile, Sugriva and other ape friends feel like substandard attempts at recreating characters from the Planet of the Apes films. Occasionally, as Ravana is busy hammering iron and forging a weapon, he seems to be channelling his inner Thor. Finally, as Rama and Ravana unleash what seem like electrified beams at each other, it's hard not to wonder why we are seeing some budget version of the Harry-Voldemort faceoff. Oh, and before I forget, Indrajit runs around like the Flash (who features in a film, this week), and while he does, the rather confounded Rama and friends too seem unprepared for this bizarre Valmiki-DC crossover.

I had the misfortune of watching this film in 3D (a format that I have almost entirely given up on) and finding it hard to focus on all the blurry movement. How is one to appreciate the spectacle if you can't see clear visuals through your spectacles? As for all the VFX, the work oscillates between being quite decent to resembling video game footage. Occasionally, certain shots seemed well-designed (like a back shot of Ravana at the beginning or a shot of Rama-Sita from underwater), but really, these compliments are akin to Rama desperately hunting for Sita's pearls in an endless forest.

If Adipurush were a better film, I might have been tempted to write about the barrage of 'Jai Shri Ram' chants, the happy use of saffron, the eager vilification of Ravana and Lanka, the black-is-evil, white-is-pure interpretation, the refusal to cover complex events like the Agnipariksha... But really, this is a film with more fundamental issues. It's a film without a single character to care about, without a single moment of genuine emotion. Who might ever have thought that this could be said of an adaptation of Ramayana? I read that the makers promised to keep aside a seat in each theatre, should Anjaneya come in person to see the film, but really, is it a good idea to incur his wrath?

Thriller Manju is the reason behind my reputation as an Action Queen: Malashree

CE FEATURES

Team Marakastra

MALASHREE'S new film Marakastra, reminded her of her earlier films like Chamundi and Shakti. She shared the insight at the film's teaser launch. "I came to know the team of Marakastra through Master Dhanukumar, and later I was captivated by the story narrated by director Gurumurthy Tsunami. That's one of the reasons I accepted to play the role. I am portraying the character of a police officer in the film, and the audience can expect to witness four thrilling adventure action stunts choreographed by Thriller Manju," says the actor, adding, "Stunt master Thriller Manju is the reason behind my reputation as an 'Action Queen."

Director Gurumurthy, who marks his debut with Marakastra, describes the film as an action-packed entertainer, incorporating commercial elements like suspense and thrill.

Marakastra is produced by Nagaraj, and it features Harshika Poonacha in the role of a crime reporter, along with Anand Arya, Bharath Singh, and Ugram Manju in pivotal roles. The music for the film is composed by Manju Kavi, while Arun Suresh has handled the cinematography. The shooting of the film has been completed and it is now in the post-production stage. The makers are expected to announce the release date soon.

AN IMPACTFUL DRAMA ON THE DARK SIDE OF RELIGIOUS POLITICS

A SHARADHAA

FOR a long time, Vinu Balanja has been part of popular serials like Preethi Illada Mele and Love Lavike. But as with any creative mind, he seems to have found it hard to quench the fire of ambition while making a transition to the silver screen with Bera. However, the director did not choose an easy subject, especially as his story delves into thought-provoking content about communal clashes.

The film's rushes gave a hint about the title and its content, which further fueled curiosity among the viewers. Vinu who has also penned the story, has audaciously embarked on a journey that takes the viewers through the sensitive religious belief system.

The entire film is set in the coastal belt of Kalladaka and revolves around two leaders, Asadulla (Sunil Puranik and Keshavanand, (Aravind Rao) representing different communities. They engage in a power struggle and both attempt to influence two friends, Saleem (Yash Shetty) and Vishnu (Rakesh Maiyya), who organise an ancient coin exhibition. The mysterious presence of the four divine pillars in Saleem's room, and lamps, leads to dire consequences. While Asadulla wants Saleem to remove the pillars of an ancient temple that obstruct the exhibition, Keshavanand insists on preserving the pillars and promises protection to Saleem and Vishnu. Amidst these tensions, rumours circulate about the impending murder of the friends. Police Inspector Vivek (Ashwin Hassan), is tasked with safeguarding the two friends. What happens to Saleem and Vishnu forms the crux of Bera's story.

RATING 2.5/5

Without a doubt, Vinu Balanja has chosen an excellent subject that sheds light on the tragic killings of innocent youths in the name of caste and religion. While the director has brought justification to the title Bera, a Tulu word that translates as 'Business,' accompanied by the intriguing tagline 'Merchant of Death,' he seems to be giving it all for the transition from serials to films. Although he has brought in the importance of safeguarding young minds from being caught in the crossfire of religious and political conflicts, he fails when it comes to the execution of the thought.

BERA
Director: Vinu Balanja
Cast: Yash Shetty, Rakesh Maiya, Suman, Harshika Poonacha, Ashwin Hassan, Sunil Puranik and Aravind Rao

Another drawback is the conversation-based approach sans intensity, an inherent characteristic of such narratives. Without any song or comedy, the grimness becomes too tedious for the audience. In terms of performance, Yash Shetty has given his best in a film that predominantly focuses on him, but the role does not offer much opportunity to showcase his versatility. Rakesh Maiya, a popular television actor, has a limited presence. Aravind Rao convincingly portrays a malicious leader from a particular community, and the same goes for Sunil Puranik, Manjunath Hegde, and Anjali. It is Dattanna and Shine Shety who initiate the story and deliver an impactful climax, despite their brief appearance.

Veteran actor Suman Talwar's character is not well etched as he only appears in a few scenes. Ashwin Hassan, a character actor, delivers a decent performance. It is nice to see Harshika Poonacha portraying a unique role, which has a lot of depth.

With no songs, Manikanth Kadri fails to hold much intensity with his background score. Except for some close-up shots, the cinematographer's work is mediocre. The film effectively portrays how political leaders manipulate the innocence of the youth by instilling religious sentiments for personal gain.

Bera comes across as a timely film worth watching if you're interested in understanding how community leaders with vested interests create law and order issues.
